Compositions and Declamations are required throughout the course.

The above course of instruction conforms essentially to that of the oldest and best institutions of the country. In conducting the youthful mind over the field of science, it is designed to bring all the faculties into exercise in the natural order of their development, and to preserve that proportion among them which will produce a proper symmetry and balance of character. Where some particular faculties, in the course of instruction, receive much more attention than others, it endangers an intellectual distortion; disqualifying the individual for any but a particular calling. The object of collegiate instruction is not to complete either a practical or professional education; but by discipline and cultivation, to bring out every power of the mind to its fullest and fairest proportions, and lay the foundation of a character fitted to appear with honor and usefulness in any department of society, which Providence may call the individual to fill. Such an education will ordinarily lead to high intellectual attainments, and it is the best preparation for studying the learned professions, or entering the higher departments of business.

TERMS OF ADMISSION.

1. On entering the college, the students are expected to present satisfactory testimonials of good moral character.

2. Candidates for admission into any of the advanced classes are required to furnish proper evidence of having completed all the preceding studies of the course.

3. No student will be enrolled, or admitted to the privileges of the College, until he shall have presented to the President or some member of the Faculty, the Treasurer's receipt for his contingent fees.

DIVISION OF THE YEAR.

The College year consists of two terms. The Spring term will open on the first Monday in March, and close on the third Thursday of July. The Fall term will open one week from the Monday following the close of the Spring term, and end on the last Thursday in November. The principal vacation embraces the three winter months.

EXAMINATIONS AND COMMENCEMENT.

The last week of each term will be spent in examinations. The Commencement exercises will take place on the third Thursday in July.

REMARKS.

As the Preparatory course embraces three terms, those who wish to pursue all the studies in this Department, should enter in the Spring. The period assigned for this course will commence with the Spring term of one year, and close with the Spring term of the following year; so that students may be prepared to pass regularly from this Department into the Freshman Class at the opening of the Fall term.

The regular College year will begin with the Fall term, so as to close at a favorable season of the year for the Commencement exercises.

A NOTE TO PARENTS AND GUARDIANS.

Boys, fourteen years old, or younger, will be subject to the following regulations: First, they will not be permitted to disburse their own funds, but will be required to have a purser, who, if not designated by the parent or guardian of the student, may be selected by the Faculty, or by the President of the Board of Trustees. Secondly, their place of boarding will be designated by the Faculty. Thirdly, they will enter the Department of the Institution judged by the Faculty best adapted to their ages, attainments and habits. Long experience has induced a conviction of the importance of each of these particulars. Without a strict adherence to them, there is but little prospect of this class of students deriving much advantage from a connection with the College.

LIBRARY.

The College Library contains upwards of 8000 volumes, well-selected, among which are many rare and valuable works. Few institutions in this country possess one of equal extent and value. The importance of such a library to the reading student, during his College course, is too obvious to need remark.

LITERARY SOCIETIES.

There are two Literary Societies in connection with the College. Each has a spacious hall devoted to it, fitted up in the most tasteful manner. They embrace nearly the whole body of students. Such Societies are of great utility to young men acquiring an education. They not only improve them in the art of public speaking, but also familiarize them in some measure with the forms of deliberative bodies, and cultivate systematic business habits. Each Society has a Library of its own.

PLAN OF ENDOWMENT.

Allegheny College is under the special patronage of the Pittsburgh and Erie Annual Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, though under the immediate supervision and control of a Board of Trustees.

Any person subscribing and paying twenty-five dollars to the Centenary Fund Society of either of the above named Conferences, secures a perpetual scholarship in the College. The two Centenary Fund Societies are regularly incorporated; and through their Boards, elected annually by the Conferences, one having its seat in Pittsburgh, and the other in Meadville, they receive and invest the funds, collect and apply the proceeds. For the funds invested, security is taken on productive real estate to three times the amount loaned. The interest when collected is paid over to the College Treasurer to defray the expenses of instruction. Thus, by a large, permanent and productive endowment, the salaries of the professors may be paid, and tuition afforded without charge.

All Colleges charge contingent expenses, aside from tuition. In pursuance of this custom, as the present system is designed simply to defray the expenses of instruction—or, in other words, to create a fund, the proceeds of which will pay the salaries of Professors—a moderate charge is made for contingencies. This is placed at the very lowest rate charged in Colleges, viz: $2.50 per term; a mere fraction, indeed, of what is charged for the same things in some similar institutions. This is designed to cover the whole expense of janitor's services, repairs of buildings* and other property about the premises, warming and keeping recitation rooms in order, &c.

In addition to the above advantages, an arrangement has been adopted in regard to vacations, peculiarly suited to the circumstances of young men of limited means. The two vacations are thrown into one, embracing the three winter months. This affords young men an opportunity of teaching school three months in the year without interruption to their studies, and at a time, too, when their services are most in demand. This arrangement, also, brings the College terms at a season of the year when the expense of living is lowest, and when the student will incur but a slight charge for fuel and lights.

It is believed, taking all these things together, that Allegheny College offers facilities for acquiring an education, not to be found elsewhere; and that many an ardent youth, who thirsts for the pure streams of science, but who has hitherto been denied an honorable competition with his more wealthy neighbor, will hail with joy an arrangement by which his own exertions will enable him to obtain a sound collegiate education.

The plan has now been in operation for a sufficient length of time to test its complete practicability.

It is in contemplation, as soon as the funds of the Institution will justify, to provide a farm, on which students may employ their leisure time in manual labor.

* This refers to ordinary repairs. Students themselves are accountable for injuries done to the rooms which they occupy.

BOARDING.

Board can be had in families at a price varying from $1.25 to $1.75 per week, including room, lodging, fuel and lights.

Those who associate and furnish their provision, can procure their cooking done in families for about 25 cents per week. On this plan the whole expense is about 75 cents per week.

Students wishing to board themselves, are accommodated with rooms in the College Buildings, furnished with stoves suitable for cooking, at $2.00 per term. The expense of self-boarding need not exceed 50 cents per week.

The occupants of each room are made accountable for damages done to the room. Damage done to the public buildings, by breaking lights, &c. when the person doing the injury cannot be ascertained, will be charged to the body of students, and the amount raised by assessment. Expenses of books, society fees, and pocket money, will vary, according to the habits and circumstances of the student. It is believed by the Faculty, that much pocket money is not only unnecessary, but in some cases a serious injury to the student and the College.

GENERAL REMARKS.

The discipline of the College is mild but strict. The Faculty endeavor to adopt such a course in the discharge of their official duties in the College, that, while respect for order is preserved, every student may feel that his teacher is his friend. Strongly convinced that the principles of morality and religion are essential to the happiness and prosperity of individuals and society—that no truly great or useful character can exist without them, they are frequently and earnestly inculcated. While entire freedom of religious sentiment and practice is allowed, the students are required to attend regularly at some place of public worship on the Sabbath, and on all occasions to treat the institutions of religion with respect.

Students who are religious are affectionately guarded, and their religious interests promoted by such means as are thought conducive to this end. Believing that the value of education very much depends upon the mental habits it forms, the Faculty endeavor to encourage and enforce, as far as they are able, the diligent and systematic employment of time.

Any books used in the course, may be procured in the village, at a reasonable price.

Meadville, the seat of the College, is a beautiful country town, containing something over two thousand inhabitants. It is pleasantly located in the valley of French Creek, and for the wealth, industry, intelligence, and good morals of the community, will compare favorably with any other borough of similar size in the country. It is only thirty-seven miles from Erie, and is directly on the stage route to Pittsburgh, and also on the route from Erie to Bellfont. When the river is navigable, steam boats come up the Allegheny to Franklin, only twenty-four miles distant; and the canal furnishes a cheap and easy conveyance from Beaver and Erie.

EXTRACTS FROM THE BY-LAWS.

Article I.—Of the Faculty.

"Sec. 5. It shall be the duty of every officer, individually, to use his utmost vigilance in carrying into complete effect the laws of the Institution. Each Professor being clothed with sufficient authority to make himself and the laws respected, he is to suffer no violation of them, known to him, to pass without due reprehension or punishment."

Article III.—Conduct and Personal Deportment.

"Sec. 1. The Students of this Institution shall attend regularly and seasonably, the public and private exercises, recitations, and lectures, established by the Faculty, or announced by the President, or by any one of the Professors. They shall use their best diligence in preparing for the exercises assigned them; and shall perform them with all care and precision.

"Sec. 2. No Student shall attend the instruction of any one who may undertake to teach any language, science or art, in the town of Meadville, or its vicinity, unless such teacher be specially approved and authorized by the Trustees: provided, that the President of the College may give permission to attend upon an instructor of merely the ornamental branches of Education.

"SEC. 3. Persons not intending to go through a full course of Collegiate studies, will be admitted for the purpose of attending with the regular classes to such branches as they may wish to acquire.

"SEC. 5. Students are not permitted, in any case, to loiter about taverns, stores, or any other places of public resort.

"SEC. 6. Gambling, or games of chance of every description, all profane and vulgar language, every species of irregular or immoral conduct, all scuffling, and unnecessary noise at any time or place, are strictly forbidden.

"SEC. 7. Habits of industry and economy are strongly recommended, and will be enforced among all the Students; and every one will be required to attend to all his duties with promptitude.

"SEC. 8. Any Student who shall be found to associate with low, vulgar, or immoral company, or be addicted to the habits of profaneness, or dissipation, will, unless he immediately reform, be dismissed from the College.

"SEC. 9. No Student shall be guilty of designedly injuring the character or feelings of any other Student.

"SEC. 10. No Student shall possess, or exhibit any indecent picture; nor shall any one be allowed to purchase or to read any lascivious or immoral book, while he continues a Student of this Institution.

"SEC. 11. No hallooing, loud talking, whistling, jumping, or other disturbing noise, or act, shall be permitted at any time in the College building; and any Student conducting himself disorderly in the town, or any other place, will be punished according to the nature of the offence.

"SEC. 12 No Student shall bring, or cause to be brought, gun-powder, fire-arms, or any deadly weapon, within the College premises: nor shall any one engage in any species of hunting, during the College term, without permission from the Faculty. No Student shall be allowed to smoke tobacco in any form, within the College enclosure.

"SEC. 13. No Student shall enter the room of another, or open a door, trunk, desk, or anything under lock and key, or otherwise secured, belonging to a Student, without permission.

"SEC. 14. No Student shall call a meeting of the Students, without permission from the President.

"Sec. 15. Any member of this Institution who shall join, or countenance any combination whatever, that has a tendency to create opposition to the discipline of the Institution, either by making promises of secrecy, or otherwise; or who shall by threats, or in any way deter others from the discharge of their duties, will be immediately dismissed; and shall never be readmitted without an express vote of the Faculty."

Article IV.—Public Worship.

"Sec. 1. All the Students of this Institution shall be strictly required to attend public worship on Sabbath, at such places, within the town of Meadville, as they, their parents, or guardians may select.

"Sec. 2. Any Student who shall conduct himself in a disorderly or irreverent manner, at any place of religious worship, shall be suspended or dismissed, according to the circumstances of the case.

"Sec. 3. Prayers shall be attended every morning in the College, by the President, or some other member of the Faculty, at his request: at which time the Students are required to be present."

Article V.—Punishment.

"Sec. 1. In all cases where punishment may become necessary, the great object will be the prevention of misdemeanor by reforming the pupil; and ultimately, when this is found impracticable, to remove him from the Institution.

"Sec. 2. The principle punishments will be, private admonition, public reprimand, extra duties, confinement, suspension, private dismission, and expulsion.

"Sec. 3. All the delinquencies and misdemeanors, not specified in these by-laws, shall be left to the judgment of the Faculty; and whenever, in the opinion of two-thirds of the Faculty, any Student is an injurious member of the Institution, by the use of profane language, the inculcation of irreligious principles, or the exercise of any influence tending to counteract the maintenance of good order, sound morals, and gentlemanly deportment, the Faculty shall have power, and it shall be their duty, when milder means have failed, privately to dismiss him from the College.

"Sec. 4. If any Student, when required by the Faculty, shall refuse to give evidence respecting the violation of any College law, or concerning any matter under consideration, shall falsify therein, he shall be punished by public confession, by admonition, or as the circumstances of the offence may require.

"Sec. 5. The President, or any of the officers, may require suitable assistance from any Student, or Students, for the preservation of the good order of the College; and if any one so required, shall refuse, or neglect to give his assistance, it shall be viewed as a great contempt for the authority of the College: and shall be punished by public confession, suspension, or expulsion."

Article VI.—Vacations.

"Sec. 7. All who remain in the College, or its vicinity, in the times of vacation, shall be subject to the same laws requiring orderly conduct, as in time of the sessions.

"Sec. 8. No Student shall absent himself from the College without leave granted, for some good reason, by some one of the Faculty, nor shall he prolong his absence beyond the specified time."

Article VII.—Regulations in relation to Boarding.

"Sec. 1. All the members of the Institution, except those whose parents or guardians live in Meadville, or its vicinity, will board at such places as shall be approved by the Faculty; and shall be subject to such regulations as the Faculty may from time to time establish. At their boarding houses, and all other places, Students will be required to conduct themselves in conformity with the strictest rules of good breeding.

"Sec. 2. No Student shall be allowed to board at a tavern, or other house of public entertainment, without permission from the Faculty."

Article IX—Literary Societies.

"Sec. 1. No Literary, or other Society, may be formed in either Department of the Institution, without the consent of two-thirds of the Faculty.

"Sec. 2. If any Society should be found to interfere with the good order of the College, by shielding its members from discipline, or affording a cover for the violation of law, or in any other way counteracting good order, such Society may be restricted from its privileges, or may be dissolved by the Faculty.

"Sec. 3. The times and places of the meetings of the Societies shall be at the discretion of the Faculty; and all meetings, whether of regular Societies, or of any other body of Students, shall be open to the attendance of the President, or any other member of the Faculty.

"Sec. 4. If any Society of Students shall be dissolved, the books, apparatus, and furniture, if any, shall become the property of the College, subject to the order of the Trustees."

Compositions and Declamations are required throughout the College course. The Senior Class will declaim original compositions throughout the year.

The above course of instruction conforms essentially to that of the oldest and best institutions of the country. In conducting the youthful mind over the field of science, it is designed to bring all the faculties into exercise in the natural order of their development, and to preserve that proportion among them which will produce a proper symmetry and balance of character. Where some particular faculties, in the course of instruction, receive much more attention than others, it endangers an intellectual distortion; disqualifying the individual for any but a particular calling. The object of collegiate instruction is not to complete either a practical or professional education; but by discipline and cultivation to bring out every power of the mind to its fullest and fairest proportions, and lay the foundation of a character fitted to appear with honor and usefulness in any department of society, which Providence may call the individual to fill. Such an education will ordinarily lead to high intellectual attainments, and it is the best preparation for studying the learned professions, or entering the higher departments of business.

TERMS OF ADMISSION.

1. On entering the college, the students are expected to present satisfactory testimonials of good moral character.

2. Candidates for admission into any of the advanced classes, are required to furnish proper evidence of having completed all the preceding studies of the course.

3. No student will be enrolled, or admitted to the privileges of the College, until he shall have presented to the President or some member of the Faculty, the Treasurer's receipt for his contingent fees.

DIVISION OF THE YEAR.

The College year contains three terms of equal length. The Fall Term commences on the third Monday in August, and ends on the third Wednesday in November. The Winter Term commences on the third Monday in December, and ends on the third Wednesday in March. The Spring Term commences on the first Monday in April, and ends on the first Wednesday in July. The Commencement of the College is celebrated on the last day of the Spring term.

EXAMINATIONS.

The last three days of the Fall and Winter Sessions respectively, will be devoted to an examination of the College classes, in their studies for the Term. The last week of the Spring Term will be spent in an examination of the students on the studies of the whole year.

FRENCH LANGUAGE.

An arrangement has been made by which the services of Mons. Rollinet, a native Frenchman, have been secured to the College. Any student who may be desirous of forming an acquaintance with so important an element of a liberal education as the French language, can do so at a very moderate expense, and under very favorable circumstances, under the tuition of this accomplished teacher.

REMARKS.

As the Preparatory course embraces four terms, those who wish to pursue all the studies in this Department, should enter in the Spring. The period assigned for this course will commence with the Spring Term of one year, and close with the Spring Term of the following year; so that students may be prepared to pass regularly from this Department into the Freshman Class at the opening of the Fall Term.

A NOTE TO PARENTS AND GUARDIANS.

Boys, fourteen years old, or younger, will be subject to the following regulations: First, they will not be permitted to disburse their own funds, but will be required to have a purser, who, if not designated by the parent or guardian of the student, may be selected by the Faculty, or by the President of the Board of Trustees. Secondly, their place of boarding will be designated by the Faculty. Thirdly, they will enter the Department of the Institution judged by the Faculty best adapted to their ages, attainments and habits. Long experience has induced a conviction of the importance of each of these particulars. Without a strict adherence to them, there is but little prospect of this class of students deriving much advantage from a connection with the College.

LIBRARY.

The College Library contains upwards of 8000 volumes, well-selected, among which are many rare and valuable works. Few institutions in this country possess one of equal extent and value. The importance of such a library to the reading student, during his College course, is too obvious to need remark.

LITERARY SOCIETIES.

There are two Literary Societies in connection with the College. Each has a spacious hall devoted to it, fitted up in the most tasteful manner. They embrace nearly the whole body of students. Such Societies are of great utility to young men acquiring an education. They not only improve them in the art of public speaking, but also familiarize them in some measure with the forms of deliberative bodies, and cultivate systematic business habits. Each Society has a Library of its own.

PLAN OF ENDOWMENT.

Allegheny College is under the special patronage of the Pittsburgh and Erie Annual Conferences of the Methodist Episcopal Church, though under the immediate supervision and control of a Board of Trustees.

Any person subscribing and paying thirty-five dollars to the Centenary Fund Society of either of the above named Conferences, secures a perpetual scholarship in the College. The two Centenary Fund Societies are regularly incorporated; and through their Boards, elected annually by the Conferences, one having its seat in Pittsburgh, and the other in Meadville, they receive and invest the funds, collect and apply the proceeds. For the funds invested, security is taken on productive real estate to three times the amount loaned. The interest when collected is paid over to the College Treasurer to defray the expenses of instruction. Thus, by a large, permanent and productive endowment, the salaries of the professors may be paid, and tuition afforded without charge.

EXPENSES.

Each student is taxed $2.00 per term to defray the current expenses of the College. These expenses are of various kinds, such as for fuel, services of Janitor, printing, and the ordinary repairs of the College Buildings. The contingent fee must invariably be paid in advance.

BOARDING.

Board can be had in families at a price varying from $1.25 to $1.75 per week, including room, lodging, fuel and lights.

Those who associate and furnish their provisions, can procure their cooking done in families for about 25 cents per week. On this plan the whole expense is about 75 cents per week.

Students wishing to board themselves, are accommodated with rooms in the College Buildings, furnished with stoves suitable for cooking, at $2.00 per term. The expense of self-boarding need not exceed 50 cents per week.

The occupants of each room are made accountable for damages done to the room. Damages done to the public buildings, by breaking lights, &c., when the person doing the injury cannot be ascertained, will be charged to the body of students, and the amount raised by assessment. Expenses of books, society fees, and pocket money, will vary, according to the habits and circumstances of the student. It is believed by the Faculty, that much pocket money is not only unnecessary, but in some cases a serious injury to the student and the College.

GENERAL REMARKS.

The discipline of the College is mild but strict. The Faculty endeavor to adopt such a course in the discharge of their official duties in the College, that, while respect for order is preserved, every student may feel that his teacher is his friend. Strongly convinced that the principles of morality and religion are essential to the happiness aud prosperity of individuals and society—that no truly great or useful character can exist without them, they are frequently and earnestly inculcated. While entire freedom of religious sentiment and practice is allowed, the students are required to attend regularly at some place of public worship on the Sabbath, and on all occasions to treat the institutions of religion with respect.

Students who are religious are affectionately guarded, and their religious interests promoted by such means as are thought conducive to this end. Believing that the value of education very much depends upon the mental habits it forms, the Faculty endeavor to encourage and enforce, as far as they are able, the diligent and systematic employment of time.

Any books used in the course, may be procured in the village, at a reasonable price.

Meadville, the seat of the College, is a beautiful country town, containing something over two thousand inhabitants. It is pleasantly located in the valley of French Creek, and for the wealth, industry, intelligence, and good morals of the community, will compare favorably with any other borough of similar size in the country. It is only thirty-seven miles from Erie, and is directly on the stage route to Pittsburgh, and also on the route from Erie to Bellfont. When the river is navigable, steam boats come up the Allegheny to Franklin, only twenty four miles distant; and the canal furnishes a cheap and easy conveyance from Beaver and Erie. It is about ninety miles from Pittsburgh.

EXTRACTS FROM THE BY-LAWS.

Article I.—Of the Faculty.

Sec. 5. It shall be the duty of every officer, individually, to use his utmost vigilance in carrying into complete effect the laws of the Institution. Each Professor being clothed with sufficient authority to make himself and the laws respected, he is to suffer no violation of them, known to him, to pass without due reprehension or punishment."

Article III.—Conduct and Personal Deportment.

"Sec. 1. The Students of this Institution shall attend regularly and seasonably, the public and private exercises, recitations, and lectures, established by the Faculty, or announced by the President, or by any one of the Professors. They shall use their best diligence in preparing for the exercises assigned them: and shall perform them with all care and precision.

"Sec. 2. No student shall attend the instruction of any one who may undertake to teach any language, science or art, in the town of Meadville, or its vicinity, unless such teacher be specially approved and authorized by the Trustees; provided, that the President of the College may give permission to attend upon an instructor of merely the ornamental branches of Education.

"Sec. 3. Persons not intending to go through a full course of Collegiate studies, will be admitted for the purpose of attending with the regular classes to such branches as they may wish to acquire.

"Sec. 5. Students are not permitted, in any case, to loiter about taverns, stores, or any other places of public resort.

"Sec. 6. Gambling, or games of chance of every description, all profane and vulgar language, every species of irregular or immoral conduct, all scuffling and unnecessary noise, at any time or place, are strictly forbidden.

"Sec. 7. Habits of industry and economy are strongly recommended, and will be enforced among all the Students; and every one will be required to attend to all his duties with promptitude.

"Sec. 8. Any Student who shall be found to associate with low, vulgar, or immoral company, or be addicted to the habits of profaneness, or dissipation, will, unless he immediately reform, be dismissed from the College.

"Sec. 9. No Student shall be guilty of designedly injuring the character or feelings of any other Student.

"Sec. 10. No Student shall possess, or exhibit any indecent picture; nor shall any one be allowed to purchase or to read any lascivious or immoral book, while he continues a Student of this Institution.

"Sec. 11. No hallooing, loud talking, whistling, jumping, or other disturbing noise or act, shall be permitted at any time in the College building; and any Student conducting himself disorderly in the town, or any other place, will be punished according to the nature of the offence.

"Sec. 12. No Student shall bring, or cause to be brought, gun-powder, fire-arms, or any deadly weapon, within the College premises; nor shall any one engage in any species of hunting during the College term, without permission from the Faculty. No Student shall be allowed to smoke tobacco in any form, within the College enclosure.

"Sec. 13. No Student shall enter the room of another, or open a door, trunk, desk, or anything under lock and key, or otherwise secured, belonging to a Student, without permission.

"Sec. 14. No Student shall call a meeting of the Students, without permission from the President.

"Sec. 15. Any member of this Institution who shall join, or countenance any combination whatever, that has a tendency to create opposition to the discipline of the Institution, either by making promises of secrecy, or otherwise; or who shall, by threats, or in any way deter others from the discharge of their duties, will be immediately dismissed; and shall never be re-admitted without an express vote of the Faculty."

Article IV.—Public Worship.

"Sec. 1. All the Students of this Institution shall be strictly required to attend public worship on Sabbath, at such places, within the town of Meadville, as they, their parents, or guardians, may select.

"Sec. 2. Any Student who shall conduct himself in a disorderly or irreverent manner, at any place of religious worship, shall be suspended or dismissed, according to the circumstances of the case.

"Sec. 3. Prayers shall be attended every morning in the College, by the President, or some other member of the Faculty, at his request; at which time, the Students are required to be present.

Article V.—Punishment.

"Sec. 1. In all cases where punishment may become necessary, the great object will be the prevention of misdemeanor, by reforming the pupil; and ultimately, when this is found impractible, to remove him from the Institution.

"Sec. 2. The principal punishments will be private admonition, public reprimand, extra duties, confinement, suspension, private dismission, and expulsion.

"Sec. 3. All the delinquencies and misdemeanors, not specified in these by-laws, shall be left to the judgment of the Faculty; and whenever, in the opinion of two-thirds of the Faculty, any Student is an injurious member of the Institution, by the use of profane language, the inculcation of irreligious principles, or the exercise of any influence tending to counteract the maintenance of good order, sound morals, and gentlemanly deportment, the Faculty shall have power, and it shall be their duty, when milder means have failed, privately to dismiss him from the College.

"Sec. 4. If any Student, when required by the Faculty, shall refuse to give evidence respecting the violation of any College law, or concerning any matter under consideration shall falsify therein, he shall be punished by public confession, by admonition, or as the circumstances of the offence may require.

"Sec. 5. The President, or any of the officers, may require suitable assistance from any Student or Students, for the preservation of the good order of the College; and if any one so required, shall refuse, or neglect to give his assistance, it shall be viewed as a great contempt for the authority of the College; and shall be punished by public confession, suspension, or expulsion."

Article VI.—Vacations.

"Sec. 7. All who remain in the College, or its vicinity, in the times of vacation, shall be subject to the same laws requiring orderly conduct, as in time of the sessions.

"Sec. 8. No Student shall absent himself from the College without leave, granted for some good reason, by some one of the Faculty, nor shall he prolong his absence beyond the specified time."

Article VII.—Regulations in relation to Boarding.

"Sec. 1. All the members of the Institution, except those whose parents or guardians live in Meadville, or its vicinity, will board at such places as shall be approved by the Faculty; and shall be subject to such regulations as the Faculty may, from time to time establish. At their boarding houses, and all other places, Students will be required to conduct themselves in conformity with the strictest rules of good breeding.

"Sec. 2. No Student shall be allowed to board at a tavern, or other house of public entertainment, without permission from the Faculty."

Article IX.—Literary Societies.

"Sec. 1. No Literary, or other Society, may be formed in either Department of the Institution, without the consent of two-thirds of the Faculty.

"Sec. 2. If any Society should be found to interfere with the good order of the College, by shielding its members from discipline, or affording a cover for the violation of law, or in any other way counteracting good order, such Society may be restricted from its privileges, or may be dissolved by the Faculty.

"Sec. 3. The times and places of the meetings of the Societies shall be at the discretion of the Faculty; and all meetings, whether of regular Societies, or of any other body of Students, shall be open to the attendance of the President, or any other member of the Faculty.

"Sec. 4. If any Society of Students shall be dissolved, the books, apparatus, and furniture, if any, shall become the property of the College, subject to order of the Trustees."

Compositions and Declamations are required throughout the College course. The Senior Class will declaim original compositions throughout the year.

The above course of instruction conforms essentially to that of the oldest and best institutions of the country. In conducting the youthful mind over the field of science, it is designed to bring all the faculties into exercise in the natural order of their development, and to preserve that proportion among them which will produce a proper symmetry and balance of character. Where some particular faculties, in the course of instruction, receive much more attention than others, it endangers an intellectual distortion; disqualifyng the individual for any but a particular calling. The object of collegiate instruction is not to complete either a practical or professional education; but by discipline and cultivation to bring out every power of the mind to its fullest and fairest proportions, and lay the foundation of a character fitted to appear with honor and usefulness in any department of society, which Providence may call the individual to fill. Such an education will ordinarily lead to high intellectual attainments, and it is the best preparation for studying the learned professions, or entering the higher departments of business.

TERMS OF ADMISSION.

1. On entering the college, the students are expected to present satisfactory testimonials of good moral character.

2. Candidates for admission into any of the advanced classes, are required to furnish proper evidence of having completed all the preceding studies of the course.

3. No student will be enrolled, or admitted to the privileges of the College, until he shall have presented to the President or some member of the Faculty, the Treasurer's receipt for his contingent fees.

DIVISION OF THE YEAR.

The College year contains three terms of equal length. The Fall Term commences on the third Monday in August, and ends on the third Wednesday in November. The winter Term commences on the third Monday in December, and ends on the third Wednesday in March. The Spring Term commences on the first Monday in April, and ends on the first Wednesday in July. The Commencement of the College is celebrated on the last day of the Spring term.

EXAMINATIONS.

The last three days of the Fall and Winter Sessions respectively, will be devoted to an examination of the College classes, in their studies for the Term. The last week of the Spring Term, will be spent in an examination of the students on the studies of the whole year.

REMARKS.

As the Preparatory course embraces four terms, those who wish to pursue all the studies in this Department, should enter in the Spring. The period assigned for this course will commence with the Spring Term of one year; and close with the Spring Term of the following year; so that students may be prepared to pass regularly from this Department into the Freshman Class at the opening of the Fall Term.

A NOTE TO PARENTS AND GUARDIANS.

Boys, fourteen years old, or younger, will be subject to the following regulations: First, they will not be permitted to disburse their own Funds, but will be required to have a purser, who, if not designated by the parent or guardian of the student, may be selected by the Faculty, or by the President of the Board of Trustees. Secondly, their place of boarding will be designated by the Faculty. Thirdly, they will enter the Department of the Institution judged by the Faculty best adapted to their ages, attainments and habits. Long experience has induced a conviction of the importance of each of these particulars. Without a strict adherence to them, there is but little prospect of this class of students deriving much advantage from a connection with the College.

LIBRARY.

The College Library Contains upwards of 8000 volumes, well-selected, among which are many rare and valuable works. Few institutions in this country possess one of equal extent and value. The importance of such a library to the reading student, during his College course, is too obvious to need remark.

LITERARY SOCIETIES.

There are two Literary Societies in connection with the College. Each has a spacious hall devoted to it, fitted up in the most tasteful manner. They embrace nearly the whole body of students. Such Societies are of great utility to young men acquiring an education. They not only improve them in the art of public speaking, but also familiarize them in some measure with the forms of deliberative bodies, and cultivate systematic business habits. Each Society has a Library of its own.

PLAN OF ENDOWMENT.

Allegheny College is under the special patronage of the Pittsburgh and Erie Annual Conferences of the Methodist Episcopal Church, though under the immediate supervision and controll of a Board of Trustees.

Any person subscribing and paying thirty-five dollars to the Centenary Fund Society of either of the above named Conferences, secures a perpetual scholarship in the College. The two Centenary Fund Societies are regularly incorporated; and through their Boards, elected annually by the Conferences, one having its seat in Pittsburgh, and the other in Meadville, they receive and invest the funds, collect and apply the proceeds. For the funds invested, security is taken on productive real estate to three times the amount loaned. The interest when collected is paid over to the College Treasurer to defray the expenses of instruction. Thus, by a large, permanent and productive endowment, the salaries of the professors may be paid, and tuition afforded without charge.

EXPENSES.

Each student is taxed $2,00 per term to defray the current expenses of the College. These expenses are of various kinds, such as for fuel, services of Janitor, printing, and the ordinary repairs of the College buildings. The contingent fee must invariably be paid in advance.

BOARDING.

Board can be had in families at a price varying from $1,25 to $1,75 per week, including room, lodging, fuel and lights.

Those who associate and furnish their provisions, can procure their cooking done in families for about 25 cents per week. On this plan the whole expense is about 75 cents per week.

Students wishing to board themselves, are accommodated with rooms in the College Buildings, furnished with stoves suitable for cooking, at $2,00 per term. The expense of self-boarding need not exceed 50 cents per week.

The occupants of each room are made accountable for damages done to the room. Damages done to the public buildings, by breaking lights, &c., when the person doing the injury cannot be ascertained, will be charged to the body of students, and the amount raised by assessment. Expenses of books, society fees, and pocket money, will vary, according to the habits and circumstances of the student. It is believed by the Faculty, that much pocket money is not only unnecessary, but in some cases a serious injury to the student and the College.

GENERAL REMARKS.

The discipline of the College is mild but strict. The Faculty endeavor to adopt such a course in the discharge of their official duties in the College, that, while respect for order is preserved, every student may feel that his teacher is his friend. Strongly convinced that the principles of morality and religion are essential to the happiness and prosperity of individuals and society—that no truly great or useful character can exist without them, they are frequently and earnestly inculcated. While entire freedom of religious sentiment and practice is allowed, the students are required to attend regularly at some place of public worship on the Sabbath, and on all occasions to treat the institutions of religion with respect.

Students who are religious are affectionately guarded, and their religious interests promoted by such means as are thought conducive to this end. Believing that the value of education very much depends upon the mental habits it forms, the Faculty endeavor to encourage and enforce, as far as they are able, the diligent and systematic employment of time.

Any books used in the course, may be procured in the village, at a reasonable price.

Meadville, the seat of the College, is a beautiful country town containing near three thousand inhabitants. It is pleasantly located in the valley of French Creek, and for the health, industry, intelligence, and good morals of the community, will compare favorably with any other borough of similar size in the country. It is only thirty-seven miles from Erie, and is directly on the stage route to Pittsburgh, and also on the route from Erie to Bellefonte. When the river is navagable, steamboats come up the Allegheny to Franklin, only twenty-four miles distant; and the canal furnishes a cheap and easy conveyance from Beaver and Erie. It is about ninety miles from Pittsburgh.

EXTRACTS FROM THE BY-LAWS.

Article I.—Of the Faculty.

"Sec. 5. It shall be the duty of every officer, individually, to use his utmost vigilance in carrying into complete effect the laws of the Institution. Each Professor being clothed with sufficient authority to make himself and the laws respected, he is to suffer no violation of them, known to him, to pass without due reprehension and punishment."

Atticle III.—Conduct and Personal Deportment.

"Sec. 1. The Students of this Institution shall attend regularly and seasonably, the public and private exercises, recitations, and lectures, established by the Faculty, or announced by the President, or by any one of the Professors. They shall use their best diligence in preparing for the exercises assigned them: and shall perform them with all care and precision.

"Sec. 2. No student shall attend the instruction of any one who may undertake to teach any language, science or art, in the town of Meadville, or its vicinity, unless such teacher be specially approved and authorized by the Trustees; provided, that the President of the College may give permission to attend upon an instructor of merely the ornamental branches of Education.

"Sec. 3. Persons not intending to go through a full course of Collegiate studies, will be admitted for the purpose of attending with the regular classes to such branches as they may wish to acquire.

"Sec. 5. Students are not permitted, in any case, to loiter about taverns, stores, or any other places of public resort.

"Sec. 6. Gambling, or games of chance of every description, all profane and vulgar language, every species of irregular and immoral conduct, all scuffling and unnecessary noise, at any time or place, are strictly forbidden.

"Sec. 7. Habits of industry and economy are strongly recommended, and will be enforced among all the Students; and every one will be required to attend to all his duties with promptitude.

"Sec. 8. Any Student who shall be found to associate with low, vulgar or immoral company, or be addicted to habits of profaneness, or dissipation, will, unless he immediately reform, be dismissed from the College.

"Sec. 9. No Student shall be guilty of designedly injuring the character or feelings of any other Student.

"Sec. 10. No Student shall posess, or exhibit any indecent picture; nor shall any one be allowed to purchase or to read any lascivious or immoral book, while he continues a Student of this Institution.

"Sec. 11. No hallooing, loud talking, whistling, jumping, or other disturbing noise or act, shall be permitted at any time in the College building; and any Student conducting himself disorderly in the town, or any other place, will be punished according to the nature of the offence.

"Sec. 12. No Student shall bring, or cause to be brought, gun-powder, fire-arms, or any deadly weapon, within the College premises; nor shall any one engage in any species of hunting during the College term, without permission from the Faculty. No student shall be allowed to smoke tobacco in any form, within the College enclosure.

"Sec. 13. No Student shall enter the room of another, or open a door, trunk, desk, or anything under lock and key, or otherwise secured, belonging to a student, without permission.

"Sec. 14. No Student shall call a meeting of the Students, without permission from the President.

"Sec. 15. Any member of this Institution who shall join, or countenance any combination whatever, that has a tendency to create opposition to the discipline of the Institution, either by making promises of secrecy, or otherwise; or who shall, by threats, or in any way deter others from the discharge of their duties, will be immediately dismissed; and shall never be re-admitted without an express vote of the Faculty."

Article IV.—Public Worship.

"Sec. 1. All the Students of this Institution shall be strictly required to attend public worship on Sabbath, at such places, within the town of Meadville, as they, their parents, or guardians, may select.

"Sec. 2. Any Student who shall conduct himself in a disorderly or irreverent manner, at any place of religious worship, shall be suspended or dismissed, according to the circumstances of the case.

"Sec. 3. Prayers shall be attended every morning in the College, by the president, or some other member of the Faculty, at his request; at which time, the Students are required to be present."

Article V.—Punishment.

"Sec. 1. In all cases where punishment may become necessary, the great object will be the prevention of misdemeanor, by reforming the pupil; and ultimately, when this is found impractible, to remove him from the Institution.

"Sec. 2. The principal punishments will be private admonition, public reprimand, extra duties, confinement, suspension, private dismission, and expulsion.

"Sec. 3. All the delinquencies and misdemeanors, not specified in these by-laws, shall be left to the judgment of the Faculty; and whenever, in the opinion of two-thirds of the Faculty, any Student is an injurious member of the Institution, by the use of profane language, the inculcation of irreligious principles, or the exercise of any influence tending to counteract the maintenance of good order, sound morals, and gentlemanly deportment, the Faculty shall have power, and it shall be their duty, when milder means have failed, privately to dismiss him from the College.

"Sec. 4. If any Student, when required by the Faculty, shall refuse to give evidence respecting the violation of any College law, or concerning any matter under consideration shall falsify therein, he shall be punished by public confession, by admonition, or as the circumstances of the offence may require.

"Sec. 5. The President, or any of the officers, may require suitable assistance from any Student or Students, for the preservation of the good order of the College; and if any one so required, shall refuse, or neglect to give his assistance, it shall be viewed as a great contempt for the authority of the College; and shall be punished by public confession, suspension, or expulsion."

Article VI.—Vacations.

"Sec. 7. All who remain in the College, or its vicinity, in the times of vacation, shall be subject to the same laws requiring orderly conduct, as in time of the sessions.

Sec. 8. No Student shall absent himself from the College without leave, granted for some good reason, by some one of the Faculty, nor shall he prolong his absence beyond the specified time."

Article VII.—Regulations in relation to Boarding.

"Sec. 1. All the members of the Institution, except those whose parents or guardians live in Meadville, or its vicinity, will board at such places as shall be approved by the Faculty; and shall be subject to such regulations as the Faculty may, from time to time establish. At their boarding houses, and all other places, Students will be required to conduct themselves in conformity with the strictest rules of good breeding.

"Sec. 2. No Student shall be allowed to board at a tavern, or other house of public entertainment, without permission from the Faculty."

Article IX.—Literary Societies.

"Sec. 1. No Literary, or other Society, may be formed in either Department of the Institution, without the consent of two-thirds of the faculty.

"Sec. 2. If any Society should be found to interfere with the good order of the College, by shielding its members from discipline, or affording a cover for the violation of law, or in any other way counteracting good order, such Society may be restricted from its privileges, or may be dissolved by the Faculty.

"Sec 3. The times and places of meetings of the Societies shall be at the discretion of the Faculty; and all meetings, whether of regular Societies, or of any other body of Students, shall be open to the attendance of the President, or any other member of the Faculty.

"Sec. 4. If any Society of Students shall be dissolved, the books, apparatus, and furniture, if any, shall become the property of the College, subject to order of the Trustees."

Compositions and Declamations are required throughout the College course. The Senior Class will declaim original compositions throughout the year.

The above course of instruction conforms essentially to that of the oldest and best Institutions of the country. In conducting the youthful mind over the field of Science, it is designed to bring all the faculties into exercise in the natural order of their development, and to preserve that proportion among them which will produce a proper symmetry and balance of character. Where some particular faculties, in the course of instruction, receive much more attention than others, it endangers an intellectual distortion; disqualifying the individual for any but a particular calling. The object of Collegiate Instruction is not to complete either a practical or professional education; but by discipline and cultivation to bring out every power of the mind, to its fullest and fairest proportions, and lay the foundation of a character fitted to appear with honor and usefulness in any department of society which Providence may call the individual to fill. Such an education will ordinarily lead to high intellectual attainments, and it is the best preparation for studying the learned professions, or entering the higher departments of business.

TERMS OF ADMISSION.

1. On entering the College, the students are expected to present satisfactory testimonials of good moral character.

2. Candidates for admission into any of the advanced classes are required to furnish proper evidence of having completed all the preceding studies of the course.

3. No student will be enrolled, or admitted to the privileges of the College, until he shall have presented to the President, or some member of the Faculty, the Treasurer's receipt for his contingent fees.

DIVISION OF THE YEAR.

The College Year contains three Terms of equal length. The Fall Term commences on the third Monday in August, and ends on the third Wednesday in November. The Winter Term commences on the third Monday in December, and ends on the third Wednesday in March. The Spring Term commences on the first Monday in April, and ends on the first Wednesday in July. The Commencement of the College is celebrated on the last day of the Spring Term.

EXAMINATIONS.

The last three days of the Fall and Winter Sessions respectively, will be devoted to an examination of the College Classes, in their studies for the Term. The last week of the Spring Term will be spent in an examination of the Students on the studies of the whole year.

REMARKS.

As the Preparatory Course embraces four Terms, those who wish to pursue all the studies in this Department, should enter in the Spring. The period assigned for this course will commence with the Spring Term of one year, and close with the Spring Term of the following year; so that Students may be prepared to pass regularly from this Department into the Freshman Class, at the opening of the Fall Term.

A NOTE TO PARENTS AND GUARDIANS.

Boys, fourteen years old, or younger, will be subject to the following regulations:—First, they will not be permitted to disburse their own funds, but will be required to have a Purser, who, if not designated by the Parent or Guardian of the Student, may be selected by the Faculty, or by the President of the Board of Trustees. Secondly, their place of boarding will be designated by the Faculty. Thirdly, they will enter the Department of the Institution judged by the Faculty best adapted to their ages, attainments and habits. Long experience has induced a conviction of the importance of each of these particulars. Without a strict adherence to them, there is but little prospect of this Class of Students deriving much advantage from a connection with the College.

LIBRARY.

The College Library contains upwards of 8000 volumes, well selected, among which are many rare and valuable works. Few Institutions in this country possess one of equal extent and value. The importance of such a Library to the reading Student, during his College course, is too obvious to need remark.

LITERARY SOCIETIES.

There are two Literary Societies in connection with the College. Each has a spacious hall devoted to it, fitted up in the most tasteful manner. They embrace nearly the whole body of Students. Such Societies are of great utility to young men acquiring an education. They not only improve them in the art of public speaking, but also familiarize them in some measure with the forms of deliberative bodies, and cultivate systematic business habits. Each Society has a Library of its own.

PLAN OF ENDOWMENT.

Allegheny College is under the special patronage of the Pittsburgh and Erie Annual Conferences of the Methodist Episcopal Church, though under the immediate supervision and control of a Board of Trustees.

Any person subscribing and paying thirty-five dollars to the Centenary Fund Society, of either of the above named Conferences, secures a perpetual Scholarship in the College. The two Centenary Fund Societies are regularly incorporated; and through their Boards, elected annually by the Conferences, one having its seat in Pittsburgh, and the other in Meadville, they receive and invest the funds, collect and apply the proceeds. For the funds invested, security is taken on productive real estate to three times the amount loaned. The interest, when collected, is paid over to the College Treasurer to defray the expenses of instruction. Thus, by a large, permanent, and productive endowment, the salaries of the Professors may be paid, and tuition afforded without charge.

EXPENSES.

Each Student is taxed $2,00 per Term, to defray the current expenses of the College. These expenses are of various kinds, such as for fuel, services of Janitor, printing, and the ordinary repairs of the College Buildings. The contingent fee must invariably be paid in advance.

BOARDING.

Board can be had in families at a price varying from $1,25 to $1,75 per week, including room, lodging, fuel and lights.

Those who associate and furnish their provisions, can procure their cooking done in families for about 25 cents per week. On this plan the whole expense is about 75 cents per week.

Students wishing to board themselves, are accommodated with rooms in the College Buildings, furnished with Stoves suitable for cooking, at $2,00 per term. The expense of self-boarding need not exceed 50 cents per week.

The occupants of each room are made accountable for damages done to the room. Damages done to the public Buildings, by breaking lights, &c. when the person doing the injury cannot be ascertained, will be charged the body of Students, and the amount raised by assessment. Expenses of books, society fees, and pocket money, will vary according to the habits and circumstances of the Student. It is believed by the Faculty that much pocket money is not only unnecessary, but in some cases, a serious injury to the Student and the College.

GENERAL REMARKS.

The discipline of the College is mild but strict. The Faculty endeavor to adopt such a course in the discharge of their official duties, in the College, that, while respect for order is preserved, every Student may feel that his Teacher is his friend. Strongly convinced that the principles of morality and religion are essential to the happiness and prosperity of individuals and society—that no truly great or useful character can exist without them, they are frequently and earnestly inculcated. While entire freedom of religious sentiment and practice is allowed, the Students are required to attend regularly at some place of public worship on the Sabbath, and on all occasions to treat the Insitutions of religion with respect.

Students who are religious are affectionately guarded, and their religious interests promoted by such means as are thought conducive to this end.

Believing that the value of education very much depends upon the mental habits it forms, the Faculty endeavor to encourage and enforce, as far as they are able, the diligent and systematic employment of time.

Any books used in the course may be procured in the village, at a reasonable price.

Meadville, the seat of the College, is a beautiful country town, containing nearly three thousand inhabitants. It is pleasantly located in the valley of French Creek, and for the health, industry, intelligence, and good morals of the community, will compare favorably with any other borough of similar size in the country. It is only thirty-seven miles from Erie, and is directly on the stage route to Pittsburgh, and also on the route from Erie to Bellefonte. When the river is navigable, steamboats come up the Allegheny to Franklin, only twenty-four miles distant; and the canal furnishes a cheap easy conveyance from Beaver and Erie. It is about ninety miles from Pittsburgh.

EXTRACTS FROM THE BY-LAWS.

ARTICLE I.—OF THE FACULTY.

"Sec. 5. It shall be the duty of every officer, individually, to use his utmost vigilance in carrying into complete effect the laws of the Institution. Each Professor being clothed with sufficient authority to make himself and the laws respected, he is to suffer no violation of them, known to him, to pass without due reprehension and punishment."

ARTICLE III.—CONDUCT AND PERSONAL DEPORTMENT.

"Sec. 1. The Students of this Institution shall attend regularly and seasonably, the public and private exercises, recitations, and lectures, established by the Faculty, or announced by the President, or by any one of the Professors. They shall use their best diligence in preparing for the exercises assigned them, and shall perform them with all care and precision.

"Sec. 2. No Student shall attend the instruction of any one who may undertake to teach any language, science or art, in the town of Meadville, or its vicinity, unless such teacher be specially approved and authorized by the Trustees; provided, that the President of the College may give permission to attend upon an instructor of merely the ornamental branches of Education.

"Sec. 3. Persons not intending to go through a full course of Collegiate Studies, will be admitted for the purpose of attending with the regular classes to such branches as they may wish to acquire.

"Sec. 5. Students are not permitted, in any case, to loiter about taverns, stores, or any other places of public resort.

"Sec. 6. Gambling, or games of chance, of every description, all profane and vulgar language, every species of irregular and immoral conduct, all scuffling and unnecessary noise, at any time or place, are strictly forbidden.

"Sec. 8. Habits of industry and economy are strongly recommended, and will be enforced among all the Students; and every one will be required to attend to all his duties with promptitude.

"Sec. 8. Any Student who shall be found to associate with low, vulgar or immoral company, or be addicted to habits of profaneness or dissipation, will, unless he immediately reform, be dismissed from the College.

"Sec. 9. No Student shall be guilty of designedly injuring the character or feelings of any other Student.

"Sec. 10. No Student shall possess, or exhibit, any indecent picture; nor shall any one be allowed to purchase or to read any lascivious or immoral book while he continues a Student of this Institution.

"Sec. 11. No hallooing, loud talking, whistling, jumping, or other disturbing noise or act, shall be permitted at any time in the College Building; and any Student conducting himself disorderly in the town, or any other place, will be punished according to the nature of the offence.

"Sec. 12. No Student shall bring, or cause to be brought, gunpowder, fire-arms, or any deadly weapon, within the College premises; nor shall any one engage in any species of hunting during the College Term, without permission from the Faculty. No Student shall be allowed to smoke tobacco in any form, within the College enclosure.

"Sec. 13. No Student shall enter the room of another, or open a door, trunk, desk, or anything under lock and key, or otherwise secured, belonging to a Student, without permission.

"Sec. 14. No Student shall call a meeting of the Students without permission from the President.

"Sec. 15. Any member of this Institution who shall join, or countenance any combination whatever, that has a tendency to create opposition to the discipline of the Institution, either by making promises of secrecy, or otherwise; or who shall, by threats, or in any way deter others from the discharge of their duties, will be immediately dismissed; and shall never be re-admitted without an express vote of the Faculty."

ARTICLE IV.—PUBLIC WORSHIP.

"Sec. 1. All the Students of this Institution shall be strictly required to attend public worship on Sabbath, at such places within the town of Meadville, as they, their parents or guardians, may select.

"Sec. 2. Any Student who shall conduct himself in a disorderly or irreverent manner, at any place of religious worship, shall be suspended or dismissed, according to the circumstances of the case.

"Sec. 3. Prayers shall be attended every morning in the College, by the President or some other member of the Faculty, at his request; at which time the Students are required to be present."

ARTICLE V.—PUNISHMENT.

"Sec. 1. In all cases where punishment may become necessary, the great object will be the prevention of misdemeanor, by reforming the pupil; and ultimately, when this is found impracticable, to remove him from the Institution.

"Sec. 2. The principal punishments will be private admonition, public reprimand, extra duties, confinement, suspension, private dismission, and expulsion.

"Sec. 3 All the delinquences and misdemeanors, not specified in these By-laws, shall be left to the judgment of the Faculty; and whenever, in the opinion of two-thirds of the Faculty, any Student is an injurious member of the Institution, by the use of profane language, the inculcation of irreligious principles, or the exercise of any influence tending to counteract the maintenance of good order, sound morals, and gentlemanly deportment, the Faculty shall have power, and it shall be their duty, when milder means have failed, privately to dismiss him from the College.

"Sec. 4. If any Student, when required by the Faculty, shall refuse to give evidence respecting the violation of any College law, or concerning any matter under consideration shall falsify therein, he shall be punished by public confession, by admonition, or as the circumstances of the offence may require.

"Sec. 5. The President, or any of the officers, may require suitable assistance from any Student or Students, for the preservation of the good order of the College; and if any one so required shall refuse or neglect to give his assistance, it shall be viewed as a great contempt for the authority of the College; and shall be punished by public confession, suspension, or expulsion."

ARTICLE VI.—VACATIONS.

"Sec. 7. All who remain in the College, or its vicinity, in the times of vacation, shall be subject to the same laws requiring orderly conduct, as in time of the sessions.

"Sec. 8. No Student shall absent himself from the College without leave, granted for some good reason, by some one of the Faculty, nor shall he prolong his absence beyond the specified time."

ARTICLE VII.—REGULATIONS IN RELATION TO BOARDING.

"Sec. 1. All the members of the Institution, except those whose parents or guardians live in Meadville, or its vicinity, will board at such places as shall be approved by the Faculty; and shall be subject to such regulations as the Faculty may, from time to time establish. At their boarding houses, and all other places, Students will be required to conduct themselves in conformity with the strictest rules of good breeding.

"Sec. 2. No Student shall be allowed to board at a tavern, or other house of public entertainment, without permission from the Faculty."

ARTICLE IX.—LITERARY SOCIETIES.

"Sec. 1. No Literary, or other Society, may be formed in either department of the Institution, without the consent of two-thirds of the Faculty.

"Sec. 2. If any Society should be found to interfere with the good order of the College, by shielding its members from discipline, or affording a cover for the violation of law, or in any other way counteracting good order, such Society may be restricted from its privileges, or may be dissolved by the Faculty.

"Sec. 3. The times and places of meetings of the Societies shall be at the discretion of the Faculty; and all meetings, whether of regular Societies, or of any other body of Students, shall be open to the attendance of the President, or any other member of the Faculty.

"Sec. 4. If any Society of Students shall be dissolved, the books, apparatus and furniture, if any, shall become the property of the College, subject to order of the Trustees.

Compositions and Declamations are required throughout the College course. The Senior Class will declaim original compositions throughout the year.

The above course of instruction conforms essentially to that of the oldest and best Institutions of the country In conducting the youthful mind over the field of Science, it is designed to bring all the faculties into exercise in the natural order of their development, and to preserve that proportion among them which will produce a proper symmetry and balance of character. Where some particular faculties, in the course of instruction, receive much more attention than others, it endangers an intellectual distortion; disqualifying the individuals for any but a particular calling. The object of Collegiate Instruction is not to complete either a practical or professional education; but by discipline and cultivation to bring out every power of the mind, to its fullest and fairest proportions; and lay the foundation of a character fitted to appear with honor and usefulness in any department of society which Providence may call the individual to fill. Such an education will ordinarily lead to high intellectual attainments, and it is the best preparation for studying the learned professions, or entering the higher departments of business.

TERMS OF ADMISSION.

1. On entering the College, the students are expected to present satisfactory testimonials of good moral character.

2. Candidates for admission into any of the advanced classes are required to furnish proper evidence of having completed all the preceding studies of the course.

4. No student will be enrolled, or admitted to the privileges of the College, until he shall have presented to the President, or some member of the Faculty, the Treasurer's receipt for his contingent fees.

DIVISION OF THE YEAR.

The College Year contains three Terms of equal length. The Fall Term commences on the third Monday in August, and ends on the third Wednesday in November. The Winter Term commences on the third Monday in December, and ends on the third Wednesday in March. The Spring Term commences on the first Monday in April, and ends on the first Wednesday in July. The Commencement of the College is celebrated on the last day of the Spring Term.

EXAMINATIONS.

The last three days of the Fall and Winter Sessions respectively, will be devoted to an examination of the College Classes, in their studies for the Term. The last week of the Spring Term will be spent in an examination of the Students on the studies of the whole year.

REMARKS.

As the Preparatory Course embraces four Terms, those who wish to pursue all the studies in this Department, should enter in the Spring. The period assigned for this course will commence with the Spring Term of one year, and close with the Spring Term of the following year; so that Students may be prepared to pass regularly from this Department into the Freshmen Class, at the opening of the Fall Term.

A NOTE TO PARENTS AND GUARDIANS.

Boys, fourteen years old, or younger, will be subject to the following regulations:—First, they will not be permitted to disburse their own funds, but will be required to have a Purser, who, if not designated by the Parent, or Guardian of the Student, may be selected by the Faculty, or by the President of the Board of Trustees. Secondly, their place of boarding will be designated by the Faculty. Thirdly, they will enter the Department of the Institution judged by the Faculty best adapted to their ages, attainments and habits. Long experience has induced a conviction of the importance of each of these particulars. Without a strict adherence to them, there is but little prospect of this Class of Students deriving much advantage from a connection with the College.

LIBRARY.

The College Library contains upwards of 8000 volumes, well selected, among which are many rare and valuable works. Few institutions in this country possess one of equal extent and value. The importance of such a Library to the reading Student, during his College course, is too obvious to need remark.

LITERARY SOCIETIES.

There are two Literary Societies in connection with the College. Each has a spacious hall devoted to it, fitted up in the most tasteful manner. They embrace nearly the whole body of Students. Such Societies are of great utility to young men acquiring an education. They not only improve them in the art of public speaking, but also familiarize them in some measure with the forms of deliberative bodies, and cultivate systematic business habits. Each Society has a Library of its own.

PLAN OF ENDOWMENT.

Allegheny College is under the special patronage of the Pittsburgh and Erie Annual Conferences of the Methodist Episcopal Church, though under the immediate supervision and control of a Board of Trustees.

Any person subscribing and paying thirty-five dollars to the Centenary Fund Society, of either of the above named Conferences, secures a perpetual Scholarship in the College. The two Centenary Fund Societies are regularly incorporated; and through their Boards, elected annually by the Conferences, one having its seat in Pittsburgh, and the other in Meadville, they receive and invest the funds, collect and apply the proceeds. For the funds invested, security is taken on productive real estate to three times the amount loaned. The interest, when collected, is paid over to the College Treasurer to defray the expenses of instruction. Thus, by a large, permanent, and productive endowment, the salaries of the Professors may be paid, and tuition offered without charge.

EXPENSES.

Each Student is taxed $2,00 per Term, to defray the current expenses of the College. These expenses are of various kinds, such as for fuel, services of Janitor, printing, and the ordinary repairs of the College Buildings. The contingent fee must invariably be paid in advance.

BOARDING.

Board can be had in families at a price varying from $1,25 to $1,75 per week, including room, lodging fuel and lights.

Those who associate and furnish their provisions, can procure their cooking done in families for about 25 cents per week. On this plan the whole expense is about 75 cents per week.

The occupants of each room are accountable for damage done to the room. Damages done to the public Buildings, by breaking lights, &c. when the person doing the injury cannot be ascertained, will be charged the body of Students, and the amount raised by assessment. Expenses of books, society fees, and pocket money, will vary according to the habits and circumstances of the Student. It is believed by the Faculty that much pocket money is not only unnecessary, but in some cases, a serious injury to the Student at the College.

GENERAL REMARKS.

The Discipline of the College is mild but strict. The Faculty endeavor to adopt such a course in the discharge of their official duties, in the College, that, while respect for order is preserved, every Student may feel that his teacher is his friend. Strongly convinced that the principles of morality and religion are essential to the happiness and prosperity of individuals and society—that no truly great or useful character can exist without them, they are frequently and earnestly inculcated. While entire freedom of religious sentiment and practice is allowed, the Students are required to attend regularly at some place of religious worship on the Sabbath, and on all occasions to treat the Institutions of religion with respect.

Students who are religious are affectionately guarded, and their religious interests promoted by such means as are thought conducive to this end. Believing that the value of education very much depends upon the mental habits it forms, the Faculty endeavor to encourage and enforce, as far as they are able, the diligent and systematic employment of time.

Any books used in the course may be procured in the village at a reasonable price.

Meadville, the seat of the College, is a beautiful country town, containing nearly three thousand inhabitants. It is pleasantly located in the valley of French Creek, and for the health, industry, intelligence, and good morals of the community, will compare favorably with any other borough of similar size in the country. It is only thirty-seven miles from Erie, and is directly on the stage route to Pittsburgh, and also on the route from Erie to Bellefonte. When the river is navigable, steamboats come up the Allegheny to Franklin, only twenty-four miles distant and the canal furnishes a cheap easy conveyance from Beaver and Erie. It is about ninety miles from Pittsburgh.

Extracts from the By-Laws.

ARTICLE I.—OF THE FACULTY.

"Sec. 1. It shall be the duty of every officer, individually, to use his utmost vigilance in carrying into complete effect the laws of the Institution. Each Professor being clothed with sufficient authority to make himself and the laws respected, he is to suffer no violation of them, known to him, to pass wtthout due reprehension and punishment."

ARTICLE III.—CONDUCT AND PERSONAL DEPORTMENT.

"Sec. 1. The Students of this institution shall attend regularly and seasonably, the public and private exercises, recitations, and lectures, established by the Faculty, or announced by the President, or by any of the Professors. They shall use their best diligence in preparing for the exercises assigned them, and shall perform them with all care and precision.

"Sec. 2. No Student shall attend the instruction of any one who may undertake to teach any language, science or art, in the town of Meadville, or its vicinity, unless such teacher be specially approved and authorized by the Trustees; provided, that the President of the College may give permission to attend upon an instructor, of merely the ornamental branches of Education.

Sec. 3. Persons not intending to go through a full course of Collegiate Studies will be admitted for the purpose of attending with the regular classes to such branches as they may wish to acquire.

"Sec. 5. Students are not permitted, in any case, to loiter about taverns, stores, or any other places of public resort.

"Sec. 6. Gambling, or games of chance, of every description, all profane and vulgar language, every species of irregular and immoral conduct, all scuffling and unnecessary noise, at any time or place, are strictly forbidden.

"Sec. 7. Habits of industry and economy are strongly recommended, and will be enforced among all the Students; and every one will be required to attend to all his duties with promptitude.

"Sec. 8. Any Student who shall be found to associate with low, vulgar or immoral company, or be addicted to habits of profaneness or dissipation, will, unless he immediately reform, be dismissed from College.

"Sec. 9. No Student shall be guilty of designedly injuring the character or feelings of any other Student.

"Sec. 10. No Student shall possess, or exhibit, any indecent picture; nor shall any one be allowed to purchase or to read any lascivious or immoral book while he continues a Student of this Institution.

"Sec. 11. No hallooing, loud talking, whistling, jumping, or other disturbing noise or act, shall be permitted at any time in the College Building; and any Student conducting himself disorderly in the town, or any other place, will be punished according to the nature of the offence.

"Sec. 12. No Student shall bring, or cause to be brought, gunpowder, fire-arms, or any deadly weapon, within the College premises; nor shall any one engage in any species of hunting during the College Term, without permission from the Faculty. No Student shall be allowed to smoke tobacco in any form, within the College enclosure.

"Sec. 13. No Student shall enter the room of another, or open a door, trunk, desk, or anything under lock and key, or otherwise secured, belonging to a Student, without permission.

"Sec. 14. No Student shall call a meeting of the Students without permission from the President.

"Sec. 15. Any member of this Institution, who shall join, or countenance any combination whatever, that has a tendency to create opposition to the discipline of the Institution, either by making promise of secrecy, or otherwise; or who shall, by threats, or in any way deter others from the discharge of their duties, will be immediately dismissed; and shall never be re-admitted without an express vote of the Faculty.

ARTICLE V.—PUBLIC WORSHIP.

"Sec. 1. All the Students of this Institution shall be strictly required to attend public worship on Sabbath, at such places within the town of Meadville, as they, their parents or guardians, may select.

"Sec. 2. Any Student who shall conduct himself in a disorderly or irreverent manner, at any place of religious worship, shall be suspended or dismissed, according to the circumstances of the case.

"Sec. 3. Prayers shall be attended every morning in the College, by the President or some other member of the Faculty, at his request; at which time the Students are required to be present."

ARTICLE V.—PUNISHMENT.

"Sec. 1. In all cases where punishment may become necessary, the great object will be the prevention of misdemeanor, by reforming the pupil; and ultimately, when this is found impracticable, to remove him from the institution.

"Sec. 2. The principal punishments will be private admonition, public reprimand, extra duties, confinement, suspension, private dismission, and expulsion.

"Sec. 3. All the delinquences and misdemeanors, not specified in the By-laws, shall be left to the judgment of the Faculty; and whenever, in the opinion of two-thirds of the Faculty, any Student is an injurious member of the Institution, by the use of profane language, the inculcation of irreligious principles, or the exercise of any influence tending to counteract the maintenance of good order, sound morals, and gentlemanly deportment, the Faculty shall have power, and it shall be their duty, when milder means have failed, privately to dismiss him from the College.

"Sec. 4. If any Student, when required by the Faculty, shall refuse to give evidence respecting the violation of any College law, or concerning any matter under consideration, shall falsify therein, he shall be punished by public confession, by admonition, or as the circumstances of the offence may require.

"Sec. 5. The President, or any of the officers, may require suitable assistance from any Student or Students, for the preservation of the good order of the College; and if any one so required shall refuse or neglect to give his assistance, it shall be viewed as a great contempt for the authority of the College; and shall be punished by public confession, suspension, or expulsion."

ARTICLE VI.—VACATIONS.

"Sec. 7. All who remain in the College, or its vicinity, in the times of vacation, shall be subject to the same laws requiring orderly conduct, as in the time of sessions.

"Sec. 8. No Student shall absent himself from the College without leave, granted for some good reason, by some of the Faculty, nor shall he prolong his absence beyond the specified time."

ARTICLE VII.—REGULATIONS RELATING TO BOARDING.

"Sec. 1. All the members of the Institution, except those whose parents or guardians live in Meadville, or its vicinity, will board at such places as shall be approved by the Faculty; and shall be subject to such regulations as the Faculty may, from time to time establish. At their boarding houses, and all other places, Students will be required to conduct themselves in conformity with the strictest rules of good breeding.

"Sec. 2. No Student shall be allowed to board at a tavern, or other house of public entertainment, without permission from the Faculty."

ARTICLE IX.—LITERARY SOCIETIES.

"Sec. 1. No Literary, or other Society, may be formed in either department of the Institution, without the consent of two-thirds of the Faculty.

"Sec. 2. If any Society should be found to interfere with the good order of the College, by shielding its members from discipline, or affording a cover for the violation of law, or in any other way counteracting good order, such Society may be restricted from its privileges, or may be dissolved by the Faculty.

"Sec. 3. The times and places of meetings of the Societies shall be at the discretion of the Faculty; and all meetings, whether of regular Societies, or of any other body of Students, shall be open to the attendance of the President, or any other member of the Faculty.

"Sec. 4. If any Society of Students shall be dissolved, the books, apparatus and furniture, if any, shall become the property of the College, subject to order of the Trustees.

Compositions and Declamations are required throughout the College course. The Senior Class will declaim original compositions throughout the year.

The above course of instruction conforms essentially to that of the oldest and best Institutions of the country. In conducting the youthful mind over the field of Science, it is designed to bring all the faculties into exercise in the natural order of their development, and to preserve that proportion among them which will produce a proper symmetry and balance of character. Where some particular faculties, in the course of instruction, receive much more attention than others, it endangers an intellectual distortion, disqualifying the individuals for any but a particular calling. The object of Collegiate Instruction is not to complete either a practical or professional education; but, by discipline and cultivation, to bring out every power of the mind to its fullest and fairest proportions, and lay the foundation of a character fitted to appear with honor and usefulness in any department of society which Providence may call the individual to fill. Such an education will ordinarily lead to high intellectual attainments, and it is the best preparation for studying the learned professions, or entering the higher departments of business.

TERMS OF ADMISSION.

1. On entering the College, the students are expected to present satisfactory testimonials of good moral character.

2. Candidates for admission into any of the advanced classes are required to furnish proper evidence of having completed all the preceding studies of the course.

3. No student will be enrolled, or admitted to the privileges of the College, until he shall have presented to the President, or some member of the Faculty, the Treasurer's receipt for his contingent fees.

DIVISION OF THE YEAR.

The College Year contains three Terms of equal length. The Fall Term commences on the third Monday in August, and ends on the third Wednesday in November. The Winter Term commences on the third Monday in December, and ends on the third Wednesday in March. The Spring Term commences on the first Monday in April, and ends on the first Wednesday in July. The Commencement of the College is celebrated on the last day of the Spring Term.

EXAMINATIONS.

The last three days of the Fall and Winter Sessions, respectively, will be devoted to an examination of the College Classes, in their studies for the Term. The last week of the Spring Term will be spent in an examination of the Students on the studies of the whole year.

REMARKS.

As the Preparatory Course embraces four Terms, those who wish to pursue all the studies in this department, should enter in the Spring. The period assigned for this course will commence with the Spring Term of one year, and close with the Spring Term of the following year; so that Students may be prepared to pass regularly from this department into the Freshman Class, at the opening of the Fall Term.

A NOTE TO PARENTS AND GUARDIANS.

Boys, fourteen years old, or younger, will be subject to the following regulations:—First, they will not be permitted to disburse their own funds, but will be required to have a Purser, who, if not designated by the Parent or Guardian of the Student, may be selected by the Faculty, or by the President of the Board of Trustees. Secondly, their place of boarding will be designated by the Faculty. Thirdly, they will enter the department of the Institution judged by the Faculty best adapted to their ages, attainments and habits. Long experience has induced a conviction of the importance of each of these particulars. Without a strict adherence to them, there is but little prospect of this class of Students deriving much advantage from a connection with the College.

LIBRARY.

The College Library contains upwards of 8,000 volumes, well selected, among which are many rare and valuable works. Few institutions in this country possess one of equal extent and value. The importance of such a library to the reading Student, during his College course, is too obvious to need remark.

LITERARY SOCIETIES.

There are two Literary Societies in connection with the College. Each has a spacious hall devoted to it, fitted up in the most tasteful manner. They embrace nearly the whole body of Students. Such societies are of great utility to young men acquiring an education. They not only improve them in the art of public speaking, but also familiarize them, in some measure, with the forms of deliberative bodies, and cultivate systematic business habits. Each Society has a Library of its own.

PLAN OF ENDOWMENT.

Allegheny College is under the special patronage of the Pittsburgh and Erie Annual Conferences of the Methodist Episcopal Church, though under the immediate supervision and control of a Board of Trustees.

Any person subscribing and paying thirty-five dollars to the Centenary Fund Society, of either of the above named Conferences, secures a perpetual Scholarship in the College. The two Centenary Fund Societies are regularly incorporated; and through their Boards, elected annually by the Conferences, one having its seat in Pittsburgh, and the other in Meadville, they receive and invest the funds, collect and apply the proceeds. For the funds invested, security is taken on productive real estate to three times the amount loaned. The interest, when collected, is paid over to the College Treasurer, to defray the expenses of instruction. Thus, by a large, permanent and productive endowment, the salaries of the Professors may be paid, and tuition offered without charge.

EXPENSES.

Each Student is taxed $2,00 per Term, to defray the current expenses of the College. These expenses are of various kinds, such as for fuel, services of Janitor, printing, and the ordinary repairs of the College Buildings. The contingent fee must invariably be paid in advance.

BOARDING.

Board can be had in families at a price varying from $1,75 to $2,00 per week, including room, lodging, fuel and lights.

Those who associate and furnish their provisions, can procure their cooking done in families for about 25 cents per week. On this plan the whole expense is about 75 cents per week.

Damages done to the Public Buildings, by breaking lights, &c., when the person doing the injury cannot be ascertained, will be charged the body of Students, and the amount raised by assessment. Expenses of books, society fees, and pocket money, will vary according to the habits and circumstances of the Student. It is believed by the Faculty that much pocket money is not only unnecessary, but, in some cases, a serious injury to the Student at the College.

GENERAL REMARKS.

The Discipline of the College is mild, but strict. The Faculty endeavor to adopt such a course in the discharge of their official duties, in the College, that, while respect for order is preserved, every Student may feel that his teacher is his friend. Strongly convinced that the principles of morality and religion are essential to the happiness and prosperity of individuals and society—that no truly great or useful character can exist without them, they are frequently and earnestly inculcated. While entire freedom of religious sentiment and practice is allowed, the Students are required to attend regularly at some place of religious worship on the Sabbath, and on all occasions to treat the institutions of religion with respect.

Students who are religious are affectionately guarded, and their religious interests promoted by such means as are thought conducive to this end. Believing that the value of education very much depends upon the mental habits it forms, the Faculty endeavor to encourage and enforce, as far as they are able, the diligent and systematic employment of time.

Any books used in the course may be procured in the village at a reasonable price.

Meadville, the seat of the College, is a beautiful country town, containing three thousand inhabitants. It is pleasantly located in the valley of French Creek, and for the health, industry, intelligence, and good morals of the community, will compare favorably with any other borough of similar size in the country. It is only thirty-seven miles from Erie, and is directly on the stage route to Pittsburgh, and also on the route from Erie to Bellefonte. When the river is navigable, steam boats come up the Allegheny to Franklin, only twenty-four miles distant, and the canal furnishes a cheap and easy conveyance from Beaver and Erie. It is about ninety miles from Pittsburgh.

Extracts from the By-Laws.

ARTICLE I.

OF THE FACULTY.

"SECTION 1. It shall be the duty of every officer, individually, to use his utmost vigilance in carrying into complete effect the laws of the Institution. Each Professor being clothed with sufficient authority to make himself and the laws respected, he is to suffer no violation of them, known to him, to pass without due reprehension and punishment."

ARTICLE III.

CONDUCT AND PERSONAL DEPORTMENT.

"SECTION 1. The Students of this Institution shall attend regularly and seasonably the public and private exercises, recitations, and lectures, established by the Faculty, or announced by the President, or by any of the Professors. They shall use their best diligence in preparing for the exercises assigned them, and shall perform them with all care and precision.

"SEC. 2. No Student shall attend the instruction of any one who may undertake to teach any language, science or art, in the town of Meadville, or its vicinity, unless such teacher be specially approved and authorized by the Trustees; provided, that the President of the College may give permission to attend upon an instructor, of merely the ornamental branches of Education.

"SEC. 3. Persons not intending to go through a full course of Collegiate Studies, will be admitted for the purpose of attending with the regular classes to such branches as they may wish to acquire.

"SEC. 5. Students are not permitted, in any case, to loiter about taverns, stores, or any other places of public resort.

"SEC. 6. Gambling, or games of chance, of every description, all profane and vulgar language, every species of irregular and immoral conduct, all scuffling and unnecessary noise, at any time or place, are strictly forbidden.

"Sec. 7. Habits of industry and economy are strongly recommended, and will be enforced among all the Students; and every one will be required to attend to all his duties with promptitude.

"Sec. 8. Any Student who shall be found to associate with low, vulgar or immoral company, or be addicted to habits of profaneness or dissipation, will, unless he immediately reform, be dismissed from College.

"Sec. 9. No Student shall be guilty of designedly injuring the character or feelings of any other Student.

"Sec. 10. No Student shall possess, or exhibit, any indecent picture; nor shall any one be allowed to purchase or to read any lascivious or immoral book while he continues a Student of this Institution.

"Sec. 11. No hallooing, loud talking, whistling, jumping, or other disturbing noise or act, shall be permitted at any time in the College Building; and any Student conducting himself disorderly in the town, or any other place, will be punished according to the nature of the offence.

"Sec. 12. No Student shall bring, or cause to be brought, gunpowder, fire-arms, or any deadly weapon, within the College premises; nor shall any one engage in any species of hunting during the College Term, without permission from the Faculty. No Student shall be allowed to smoke tobacco, in any form, within the College enclosure.

"Sec. 13. No student shall enter the room of another, or open a door, trunk, desk, or anything under lock and key, or otherwise secured, belonging to a Student, without permission.

"Sec. 14. No Student shall call a meeting of the Students without permission from the President.

"Sec. 15. Any member of this Institution who shall join, or countenance any combination whatever, that has a tendency to create opposition to the discipline of the Institution, either by making promise of secrecy, or otherwise, or who shall, by threats, or in any way deter others from the discharge of their duties, will be immediately dismissed; and shall never be re-admitted, without an express vote of the Faculty."

ARTICLE IV.

PUBLIC WORSHIP.

"Section 1. All the Students of this Institution shall be strictly required to attend public worship on Sabbath, at such places within the town of Meadville as they, their parents or guardians may select.

"Sec. 2. Any Student who shall conduct himself in a disorderly or irreverent manner, at any place of religious worship, shall be suspended or dismissed, according to the circumstances of the case.

"SEC. 3. Prayers shall be attended every morning in the College, by the President, or some other member of the Faculty, at his request; at which time the Students are required to be present."

ARTICLE V.

PUNISHMENT.

"SECTION 1. In all cases where punishment may become necessary, the great object will be the prevention of misdemeanor, by reforming the pupil; and ultimately, when this is found impracticable, to remove him from the Institution.

"SEC. 2. The principal punishments will be private admonition, public reprimand, extra duties, confinement, suspension, private dismission, and expulsion.

"SEC. 3. All the delinquencies and misdemeanors, not specified in the By-laws, shall be left to the judgment of the Faculty; and whenever, in the opinion of two-thirds of the Faculty, any Student is an injurious member of the Institution, by the use of profane language, the inculcation of irreligious principles, or the exercise of any influence tending to counteract the maintenance of good order, sound morals, and gentlemanly deportment, the Faculty shall have power, and it shall be their duty, when milder means have failed, privately to dismiss him from the College.

"SEC. 4. If any Student, when required by the Faculty, shall refuse to give evidence respecting the violation of any College law, or concerning any matter under consideration, shall falsify therein, he shall be punished by public confession, by admonition, or as the circumstances of the offence may require.

"SEC. 5. The President, or any of the officers, may require suitable assistance from any Student or Students, for the preservation of the good order of the College; and if any one so required shall refuse or neglect to give his assistance, it shall be viewed as a great contempt for the authority of the College, and shall be punished by public confession, suspension, or expulsion."

ARTICLE VI.

VACATIONS.

"SEC. 7. All who remain in the College, or its vicinity, in the times of vacation, shall be subject to the same laws requiring orderly conduct, as in the time of sessions.

"SEC. 8. No Student shall absent himself from the College without leave granted for some good reason, by some of the Faculty, nor shall he prolong his absence beyond the specified time."

ARTICLE VII.

REGULATIONS RELATING TO BOARDING.

"SEC. 1. All the members of the Institution, except those whose parents or guardians live in Meadville, or its vicinity, will board at such places as shall be approved by the Faculty, and shall be subject to such regulations as the Faculty may, from time to time, establish. At their boarding houses, and all other places, Students will be required to conduct themselves in conformity with the strictest rules of good breeding.

"SEC. 2. No Student shall be allowed to board at a tavern, or other house of public entertainment, without permission from the Faculty."

ARTICLE IX.

LITERARY SOCIETIES.

"SEC. 1. No Literary, or other Society, may be formed in either department of the Institution, without the consent of two-thirds of the Faculty.

"SEC. 2. If any Society should be found to interfere with the good order of the College, by shielding its members from discipline, or affording a cover for the violation of law, or in any other way counteracting good order, such Society may be restricted from its privileges, or may be dissolved by the Faculty.

"SEC. 3. The times and places of meetings of the Societies shall be at the discretion of the Faculty; and all meetings, whether of regular Societies, or of any other body of Students, shall be open to the attendance of the President or any other member of the Faculty.

"SEC. 4. If any Society of Students shall be dissolved, the books, apparatus and furniture, if any, shall become the property of the College, subject to order of the Trustees."

Compositions and Declamations are required throughout the College course. The Senior Class will declaim original compositions throughout the year.

The preceding course of instruction conforms essentially to that of the oldest and best Institutions of the country. In conducting the youthful mind over the field of Science, it is designed to bring all the faculties into exercise in the natural order of their development, and to preserve that proportion among them which will produce a proper symmetry and balance of character. Where some particular faculties, in the course of instruction, receive much more attention than others, it endangers an intellectual distortion, disqualifying the individuals for any but a particular calling. The object of Collegiate Instruction is not to complete either a practical or professional education; but, by discipline and cultivation, to bring out every power of the mind to its fullest and fairest proportions, and lay the foundation of a character fitted to appear with honor and usefulness in any department of society which Providence may call the individual to fill. Such an education will ordinarily lead to high intellectual attainments, and it is the best preparation for studying the learned professions, or entering the higher departments of business.

TERMS OF ADMISSION.

1. On entering the College, the students are expected to present satisfactory testimonials of good moral character.

2. Candidates for admission into any of the advanced classes are required to furnish proper evidence of having completed all the preceding studies of the course.

3. No student will be enrolled, or admitted to the privileges of the College, until he shall have presented to the President, or some member of the Faculty, the Treasurer's receipt for his contingent fees.

DIVISION OF THE YEAR.

The College Year contains three Terms of equal length. The Fall Term commences on the third Monday in August, and ends on the third Wednesday in November. The Winter Term commences on the third Monday in December, and ends on the third Wednesday in March. The Spring Term commences on the first Monday in April, and ends on the first Wednesday in July. The Commencement of the College is celebrated on the last day of the Spring Term.

EXAMINATIONS.

The last three days of the Fall and Winter Sessions, respectively, will be devoted to an examination of the College Classes, in their studies for the Term. The last week of the Spring Term will be spent in an examination of the Students on the studies of the whole year.

REMARKS.

As the Preparatory Course embraces four Terms, those who wish to pursue all the studies in this department, should enter in the spring. The period assigned for this course will commence with the Spring Term of one year, and close with the Spring Term of the following year; so that Students may be prepared to pass regularly from this department into the Freshman Class, at the opening of the Fall Term.

A NOTE TO PARENTS AND GUARDIANS.

Boys, fourteen years old, or younger, will be subject to the following regulations:—First, they will not be permitted to disburse their own funds, but will be required to have a Purser, who, if not designated by the Parent or Guardian of the Student, may be selected by the Faculty, or by the President of the Board of Trustees. Secondly, their place of boarding will be designated by the Faculty. Thirdly, they will enter the department of the Institution judged by the Faculty best adapted to their ages, attainments and habits. Long experience has induced a conviction of the importance of each of these particulars. Without a strict adherence to them, there is but little prospect of this class of Students deriving much advantage from a connection with the College.

LIBRARY.

The College Library contains upwards of 8,000 volumes, well selected, among which are many rare and valuable works. Few institutions in this country possess one of equal extent and value. The importance of such a library to the reading Student, during his College course, is too obvious to need remark.

LITERARY SOCIETIES.

There are two Literary Societies in connection with the College. Each has a spacious hall devoted to it, fitted up in the most tasteful manner. They embrace nearly the whole body of Students. Such societies are of great utility to young men acquiring an education. They not only improve them in the art of public speaking, but also familiarize them, in some measure, with the forms of deliberative bodies, and cultivate systematic business habits. Each Society has a Library of its own.

person doing the injury cannot be ascertained, will be charged the body of Students, and the amount raised by assessment. Expenses of books, society fees, and pocket money, will vary according to the habits and circumstances of the Student. It is believed by the Faculty that much pocket money is not only unnecessary, but in some cases, a serious injury to the Student at the College.

GENERAL REMARKS.

The Discipline of the College is mild, but strict. The Faculty endeavor to adopt such a course in the discharge of their official duties, in the College,

Extracts from the By-Laws.

ARTICLE I.

OF THE FACULTY.

"SECTION 1. It shall be the duty of every officer, individually, to use his utmost vigilance in carrying into complete effect the laws of the Institution. Each Professor being clothed with sufficient authority to make himself and the laws respected, he is to suffer no violation of them, known to him, to pass without due reprehension and punishment."

ARTICLE III.

CONDUCT AND PERSONAL DEPORTMENT.

"SECTION 1. The Students of this Institution shall attend regularly and seasonably the public and private exercises, recitations, and lectures, established by the Faculty, or announced by the President, or by any of the Professors. They shall use their best diligence in preparing for the exercises assigned them, and shall perform them with all care and precision.

"SEC. 2. No Student shall attend the instruction of any one who may undertake to teach any language, science or art, in the town of Meadville, or its vicinity, unless such teacher be specially approved and authorized by the Trustees; provided, that the President of the College may give permission to attend upon an instructor, of merely the ornamental branches of Education.

"SEC. 3. Persons not intending to go through a full course of Collegiate Studies, will be admitted for the purpose of attending with the regular classes to such branches as they may wish to acquire.

"SEC. 5. Students are not permitted, in any case, to loiter about taverns, stores, or any other places of public resort.

"SEC. 6. Gambling, or games of chance, of every description, all profane and vulgar language, every species of irregular and immoral conduct, all scuffling and unnecessary noise, at any time or place, are strictly forbidden.

"SEC. 7. Habits of industry and economy are strongly recommended, and will be enforced among all the Students; and every one will be required to attend to all his duties with promptitude.

"SEC. 8. Any Student who shall be found to associate with low, vulgar or immoral company, or be addicted to habits of profaneness or dissipation, will, unless he immediately reform, be dismissed from the College.

"SEC. 9. No Student shall be guilty of designedly injuring the character or feelings of any other Student.

"SEC. 10. No Student shall possess, or exhibit, any indecent picture; nor shall any one be allowed to purchase or to read any lascivious or immoral book while he continues a Student of this Institution.

"SEC. 11. No hallooing, loud talking, whistling, jumping, or other disturbing noise or act, shall be permitted at any time in the College Building; and any Student conducting himself disorderly in the town, or any other place, will be punished according to the nature of the offence.

"SEC. 12. No Student shall bring, or cause to be brought, gunpowder, firearms, or any deadly weapon, within the College premises; nor shall any one engage in any species of hunting during the College Term, without permission from the Faculty. No Student shall be allowed to smoke tobacco, in any form, within the College enclosure.

"SEC. 13. No Student shall enter the room of another, or open a door, trunk, desk, or anything under lock and key, or otherwise secured, belonging to a Student, without permission.

"SEC. 14. No Student shall call a meeting of the Students without permission from the President.

"SEC. 15. Any member of this Institution who shall join, or countenance any combination whatever, that has a tendency to create opposition to the discipline of the Institution, either by making promise of secrecy, or otherwise, or who shall, by threats, or in any way deter others from the discharge of their duties, will be immediately dismissed; and shall never be re-admitted, without an express vote of the Faculty."

ARTICLE IV.

PUBLIC WORSHIP.

"SECTION 1. All the Students of this Institution shall be strictly required to attend public worship on the Sabbath, at such places within the town of Meadville as they, their parents or guardians may select.

"SEC. 2. Any Student who shall conduct himself in a disorderly or irreverent manner, at any place of religious worship, shall be suspended or dismissed, according to the circumstances of the case.

"Sec. 3. Prayers shall be attended every morning in the College, by the President, or some other member of the Faculty, at his request; at which time the Students are required to be present."

ARTICLE V.

PUNISHMENT.

"Section 1. In all cases where punishment may become necessary, the great object will be the prevention of misdemeanor, by reforming the pupil; and ultimately, when this is found impracticable, to remove him from the Institution.

"Sec. 2. The principal punishments will be private admonition, public reprimand, extra duties, confinement, suspension, private dismission, and expulsion.

"Sec. 3. All the delinquencies and misdemeanors, not specified in the By-Laws, shall be left to the judgment of the Faculty; and whenever, in the opinion of two-thirds of the Faculty, any Student is an injurious member of the Institution, by the use of profane language, the inculcation of irreligious principles, or the exercise of any influence tending to counteract the maintenance of good order, sound morals, and gentlemanly deportment, the Faculty shall have power, and it shall be their duty, when milder means have failed, privately to dismiss him from the College.

"Sec. 4. If any Student, when required by the Faculty, shall refuse to give evidence respecting the violation of any College law, or concerning any matter under consideration, shall falsify therein, he shall be punished by public confession, by admonition, or as the circumstances of the offence may require.

"Sec. 5. The President, or any of the officers, may require suitable assistance from any Student or Students, for the preservation of the good order of the College; and if any one so required shall refuse or neglect to give his assistance, it shall be viewed as a great contempt for the authority of the College, and shall be punished by public confession, suspension, or expulsion."

ARTICLE VI.

VACATIONS.

"Section 7. All who remain in the College, or its vicinity, in the times of vacation, shall be subject to the same laws requiring orderly conduct, as in the time of sessions.

"Sec. 8. No Student shall absent himself from the College without leave granted for some good reason, by some of the Faculty, nor shall he prolong his absence beyond the specified time."

ARTICLE VII.

REGULATIONS RELATING TO BOARDING.

"Section 1. All the members of the Institution, except those whose parents or guardians live in Meadville, or its vicinity, will board at such places as shall be approved by the Faculty, and shall be subject to such regulations as the Faculty may, from time to time, establish. At their boarding houses, and all other places, Students will be required to conduct themselves in conformity with the strictest rules of good breeding.

"Sec. 2. No Student shall be allowed to board at a tavern, or other house of public entertainment, without permission from the Faculty."

ARTICLE IX.

LITERARY SOCIETIES.

"Section 1. No Literary, or other Society, may be formed in either department of the Institution, without the consent of two-thirds of the Faculty.

"Sec. 2. If any Society should be found to interfere with the good order of the College, by shielding its members from discipline, or affording a cover for the violation of law, or in any other way counteracting good order, such Society may be restricted from its privileges, or may be dissolved by the Faculty.

"Sec. 3. The times and places of meetings of the Societies shall be at the discretion of the Faculty; and all meetings, whether of regular Societies, or of any other body of Students, shall be open to the atttendance of the President or any other member of the Faculty.

"Sec. 4. If any Society of Students shall be dissolved, the books, apparatus and furniture, if any, shall become the property of the College, subject to order of the Trustees."

Compositions and Declamations are required throughout the College course. The Senior Class will declaim original compositions throughout the year.

The preceding course of instruction conforms essentially to that of the oldest and best Institutions of the country. In conducting the youthful mind over the field of Science, it is designed to bring all the faculties into exercise in the natural order of their development and to preserve that proportion among them which will produce a proper symmetry and balance of character. Where some particular faculties, in the course of instruction, receive much more attention than others, it endangers an intellectual distortion, disqualifying the individuals for any but a particular calling. The object of Collegiate Instruction is not to complete either a practical or professional education; but, by discipline and cultivation, to bring out every power of the mind to its fullest and fairest proportions, and lay the foundation of a character fitted to appear with honor and usefulness in any department of society which Providence may call the individual to fill. Such an education will ordinarily lead to high intellectual attainments, and it is the best preparation for studying the learned professions, or entering the higher departments of business.

TERMS OF ADMISSION.

1. On entering the College, the Students are expected to present satisfactory testimonals of good moral character.

2. Candidates for admission into any of the advanced classes are required to furnish proper evidence of having completed all the preceding studies of the course.

3. No student will be enrolled, or admitted to the privileges of the College, until he shall have presented to the President, or some member of the Faculty, the Treasurer's receipt for his contingent fees.

DIVISION OF THE YEAR.

The College Year contains three Terms of equal length. The Fall Term commences on the Third Monday in August, and ends on the third Wednesday in November. The Winter Term commences on the third Monday in December, and ends on the third Wednesday in March. The Spring Term commences on the first Monday in April, and ends on the last Wednesday in June. The Commencement of the College is celebrated on the last day of the Spring Term.

EXAMINATIONS.

The last three days of the Fall and Winter Sessions, respectively, will be devoted to an examination of the College Classes, in their studies for the Term. The last week of the Spring Term will be spent in an examination of the Students on the studies of the whole year.

REMARKS.

As the Preparatory Course embraces four Terms, those who wish to pursue all the studies in this department, should enter in the spring. The period assigned for this course will commence with the Spring Term of one year, and close with the Spring Term of the following year; so that Students may be prepared to pass regularly from this department into the Freshman Class, at the opening of the Fall Term.

A NOTE TO PARENTS AND GUARDIANS.

Boys, fourteen years old, or younger, will be subject to the following regulations:—First, they will not be permitted to disburse their own funds, but will be required to have a Purser, who, if not designated by the Parent or Guardian of the Student, may be selected by the Faculty, or by the President of the Board of Trustees. Secondly, their place of boarding will be designated by the Faculty. Thirdly, they will enter the department of the Institution judged by the Faculty best adapted to their ages, attainments and habits. Long experience has induced a conviction of the importance of each of these particulars. Without a strict adherence to them, there is but little prospect of this class of Students deriving much advantage from a connection with the College.

LIBRARY.

The College Library contains upwards of 8,000 volumes, well selected, among which are many rare and valuable works. Few institutions in this country possess one of equal extent and value. The importance of such a library to the reading Student, during his College course, is too obvious to need remark.

LITERARY SOCIETIES.

There are two Literary Societies in connection with the College Each has a spacious hall devoted to it, fitted up in the most tasteful manner. They embrace nearly the whole body of Students. Such societies are of great utility to young men acquiring an education. They not only improve them in the art of public speaking, but also familiarize them, in some measure, with the forms of deliberative bodies, and cultivate systematic business habits. Each Society has a Library of its own.

PLAN OF ENDOWMENT.

ALLEGHENY COLLEGE is under the special patronage of the Pittsburgh and Erie Annual Conferences of the Methodist Episcopal Church, though under the immediate supervision and control of a Board of Trustees.

Any person subscribing and paying thirty-five dollars to the Centenary Fund Society, of either of the aboved named Conferences, secures a perpetual Scholarship in the College. The two Centenary Fund Societies are regularly incorporated; and through their Boards, elected annually by the Conferences, one having its seat in Pittsburgh, and the other in Meadville, they receive and invest the funds, collect and apply the proceeds. For the funds invested, security is taken on productive real estate to three times the amount loaned. The interest, when collected, is paid over to the College Treasurer, to defray the expenses of instruction. Thus, by a large, permanent and productive endowment, the salaries of the Professors may be paid, and tuition offered without charge.

EXPENSES.

Each Student is taxed $2.00 per Term, to defray the current expenses of the College. These expenses are of various kinds, such as for fuel, services of Janitor, printing, and the ordinary repairs of the College Buildings. The contingent fee must invariably be paid in advance.

BOARDING.

Board can be had in families at a price varying from $1.75 to $2.00 per week, including room, lodging, fuel and lights.

Those who associate and furnish their provisions, can procure their cooking done in families for about 25 cents per week. On this plan the whole expense is about 75 cents per week.

Damages done to the Public Buildings, by breaking lights, &c., when the person doing the injury cannot be ascertained, will be charged the body of Students, and the amount raised by assessment. Expenses of books, society fees, and pocket money, will vary according to the habits and circumstances of the Student. It is believed by the Faculty that much pocket money is not only unnecessary, but in some cases, a serious injury to the Student at the College.

GENERAL REMARKS.

The Discipline of the College is mild, but strict. The Faculty endeavor to adopt such a course in the discharge of their official duties, in the College, that, while respect for order is preserved, every Student may feel that his teacher is his friend. Strongly convinced that the principles of morality and religion are essential to the happiness and prosperity of individuals and society—that no truly great or useful character can exist without them, they are frequently and earnestly inculcated. While entire freedom of religious sentiment and practice is allowed, the Students are required to attend regularly at some place of religious worship on the Sabbath, and on all occasions to treat the institutions of religion with respect.

Students who are religious are affectionately guarded, and their religious interests promoted by such means as are thought conducive to this end. Believing that the value of education very much depends upon the mental habits it forms, the Faculty endeavor to encourage and enforce, as far as they are able, the diligent and systematic employment of time.

Any books used in the course may be procured in the village at a reasonable price.

Meadville, the seat of the College, is a beautiful country town, containing three thousand inhabitants. It is pleasantly located in the valley of French Creek, and for the health, industry, intelligence, and good morals of the community, will compare favorably with any other borough of similar size in the country. It is only thirty-seven miles from Erie, and is directly on the stage route to Pittsburgh, and also on the route from Erie to Bellefonte. When the river is navigable, steam boats come up the Allegheny to Franklin, only twenty-four miles distant, and the canal furnishes a cheap and easy conveyance from Beaver and Erie. It is about ninety miles from Pittsburgh.

REMARKS.

The above is arranged to correspond with the regular college course. It comprises a number of studies embraced in other departments of the College, and, for its full accomplishment, demands a knowledge of the Preparatory studies, and of Algebra and Geometry. Students accomplishing this course will be entitled to a diploma signed by the officers of the Institution.

KRAMER PROFESSORSHIP.

There is, as yet, but one professorship endowed in this department—that of "Hebrew and Biblical Literature." Indeed, this is not altogether perfected, but is so far advanced as to justify the expectation that it will soon be completed. The munificent sum of five thousand dollars was subscribed by Allen Kramer, Esq., of Pittsburgh, after whom the professorship has been appropriately named. Many other gentlemen, in the same city, and elsewhere, have also contributed liberally towards the endowment of this chair, thereby evincing a warm interest in behalf of Biblical literature. It is to be hoped that this is but the nucleus around which other endowments will gather in the course of time. It may come into the hearts of other friends of sanctified learning, also, to employ, in this sphere of usefulness, a portion of the means with which a beneficent Providence has endowed them, and, by adding other professorships to the one already founded, to accomplish a great good in the earth, and erect for themselves monuments more enduring than brass or marble.

BIBLICAL LITERARY SOCIETY.

In addition to the old and respectable literary societies of the College, a new one has recently been organized, denominated the "Biblical Literary Society of Allegheny College," the chief object of which is the improvement of its members in biblical and religious knowledge. This is a very important auxiliary to the Biblical Department. The Trustees of the College have generously assigned to the new society a spacious and excellent hall, which is about to be fitted up for their use. Much, however, will need to be done by the members themselves, and their friends, to supply it with the necessary furniture, and to procure a library. The furniture and books of the other halls amount in value to thousands of dollars. This society will be liberally assisted here, but contributions of money or books from abroad will be highly acceptable. It is hoped that their friends will encourage them with a generous hand.

Students prosecuting the study of the Greek language, will recite in the Greek New Testament on every Monday morning. In addition to the text books read in that language, they must be provided with the following books of reference, viz: Anthon's Classical Dictionary, Long's Classical Atlas, and Smith and Felton's History of Greece.

Compositions and Declamations are required throughout the College course. The Senior Class will declaim original compositions throughout the year.

The preceding course of instruction conforms essentially to that of the oldest and best Institutions of the country. In conducting the youthful mind over the field of Science, it is designed to bring all the faculties into exercise in the natural order of their development and to preserve that proportion among them which will produce a proper symmetry and balance of character. Where some particular faculties, in the course of instruction, receive much more attention than others, it engenders an intellectual distortion, disqualifying the individuals for any but a particular calling. The object of Collegiate Instruction is not to complete either a practical or professional education; but, by discipline and cultivation, to bring out every power of the mind to its fullest and fairest proportions, and lay the foundation of a character fitted to appear with honor and usefulness in any department of society which Providence may call the individual to fill. Such an education will ordinarily lead to high intellectual attainments, and it is the best preparation for studying the learned professions, or entering the higher departments of business.

TERMS OF ADMISSION.

1. On entering the College, the Students are expected to present satisfactory testimonials of good moral character.

2. Candidates for admission into any of the advanced classes are required to furnish proper evidence of having completed all the preceding studies of the course.

3. No student will be enrolled, or admitted to the privileges of the College, until he shall have presented to the President, or some member of the Faculty, the Treasurer's receipt for his contingent fees.

DIVISION OF THE YEAR.

The College Year contains three Terms of equal length. The Fall Term commences on the third Monday in August, and ends on the third Wednesday in November. The Winter Term commences on the third Monday in December, and ends on the third Wednesday in March. The Spring Term commences on the first Monday in April, and ends on the last Wednesday in June. The Commencement of the College is celebrated on the last day of the Spring Term.

EXAMINATIONS.

The last three days of the Fall and Winter Sessions, respectively, will be devoted to an examination of the College Classes, in their studies for the Term. The last week of the Spring Term will be spent in an examination of the Students on the studies of the whole year.

REMARKS.

As the Preparatory Course embraces Four Terms, those who wish to pursue all the studies in this department, should enter in the spring. The period assigned for this course will commence with the Spring Term of one year, and close with the Spring Term of the following year; so that Students may be prepared to pass regularly from this department into the Freshman Class, at the opening of the Fall Term.

A NOTE TO PARENTS AND GUARDIANS.

Boys, fourteen years old, or younger, will be subject to the following regulations:—First, they will not be permitted to disburse their own funds, but will be required to have a Purser, who, if not designated by the Parent or Guardian of the Student, may be selected by the Faculty, or by the President of the Board of Trustees. Secondly, their place of boarding will be designated by the Faculty. Thirdly, they will enter the department of the Institution judged by the Faculty best adapted to their ages, attainments and habits. Long experience has induced a conviction of the importance of each of these particulars. Without a strict adherence to them, there is but little prospect of this class of Students deriving much advantage from a connection with the College.

LIBRARY.

The College Library contains upwards of 8,000 volumes, well selected, among which are many rare and valuable works. Few institutions in this country possess one of equal extent and value. The importance of such a library to the reading Student, during his College course, is too obvious to need remark.

LITERARY SOCIETIES.

There are two Literary Societies in connection with the College. Each has a spacious hall devoted to it, fitted up in the most tasteful manner. They embrace nearly the whole body of Students. Such societies are of great utility to young men acquiring an education. They not only improve them in the art of public speaking, but also familiarize them, in some measure, with the forms of deliberative bodies, and cultivate systematic business habits. Each Society has a Library of its own.

PLAN OF ENDOWMENT.

ALLEGHENY COLLEGE is under the special patronage of the Pittsburgh and Erie Annual Conferences of the Methodist Episcopal Church, though under the immediate supervision and control of a Board of Trustees.

Any person subscribing and paying thirty-five dollars to the Centenary Fund Society of either of the above named Conferences, secures a perpetual Scholarship in the College. The two Centenary Fund Societies are regularly incorporated; and through their Boards, elected annually by the Conferences, one having its seat in Pittsburgh, and the other in Meadville, they receive and invest the funds, collect and apply the proceeds. For the funds invested, security is taken on productive real estate to three times the amount loaned. The interest, when collected, is paid over to the College Treasurer, to defray the expenses of instruction. Thus, by a large, permanent and productive endowment, the salaries of the Professors may be paid, and tuition offered without charge.

EXPENSES.

Each Student is taxed $2.00 per Term, to defray the current expenses of the College. These expenses are of various kinds, such as for fuel, services of Janitor, printing, and the ordinary repairs of the College Buildings. The contingent fee must invariably be paid in advance.

BOARDING.

Board can be had in families at a price varying from $1.75 to $2.00 per week, including room, lodging, fuel and lights.

Those who associate and furnish their provisions, can procure their cooking done in families for about 25 cents per week. On this plan the whole expense is about 75 cents per week.

Damages done to the Public Buildings, by breaking lights, &c. when the person doing the injury cannot be ascertained, will be charged the body of Students, and the amount raised by assessment. Expenses of books, society fees, and pocket money, will vary according to the habits and circumstances of the Student. It is believed by the Faculty that much pocket money is not only unnecessary, but in some cases, a serious injury to the Student at the College.

GENERAL REMARKS.

The Discipline of the College is mild, but strict. The Faculty endeavor to adopt such a course in the discharge of their official duties, in the College, that, while respect for order is preserved, every Student may feel that his teacher is his friend. Strongly convinced that the principles of morality and religion are essential to the happiness and prosperity of individuals and society—that no truly great or useful character can exist without them, they are frequently and earnestly inculcated. While entire freedom of religious sentiment and practice is allowed, the Students are required to attend regularly at some place of religious worship on the Sibbath, and on all occasions to treat the institutions of religion with respect.

Students who are religious are affectionately guarded, and their religious interests promoted by such means as are thought conducive to this end. Believing that the value of education very much depends upon the mental habits it forms, the Faculty endeavor to encourage and enforce, as far as they are able, the diligent and systematic employment of time.

Any books used in the course may be procured in the village at a reasonable price.

Meadville, the seat of the College, is a beautiful country town, containing three thousand inhabitants. It is pleasantly located in the valley of French Creek, and for the health, industry, intelligence, and good morals of the community, will compare favorably with any other borough of similar size in the country. It is only thirty-seven miles from Erie, and is directly on the stage route to Pittsburgh, and also on the route from Erie to Bellefonte. When the river is navigable, steam boats come up the Allegheny to Franklin, only twenty-four miles distant, and the canal furnishes a cheap and easy conveyance from Beaver and Erie. It is about ninety miles from Pittsburgh.

REMARKS.

The above is arranged to correspond with the regular college course. It comprises a number of studies embraced in other departments of the College, and, for its full accomplishment, demands a knowledge of the Preparatory studies, and of Algebra and Geometry. Students accomplishing this course will be entitled to a diploma signed by the officers of the Institution.

KRAMER PROFESSORSHIP.

There is, as yet, but one professorship endowed in this department—that of "Hebrew and Biblical Literature." Indeed, this is not altogether perfected, but is so far advanced as to justify the expectation that it will soon be completed. The munificent sum of five thousand dollars was subscribed by Allen Kramer, Esq., of Pittsburgh, after whom the professorship has been appropriately named. Many other gentlemen, in the same city, and elsewhere, have also contributed liberally towards the endowment of this chair, thereby evincing a warm interest in behalf of Biblical literature. It is to be hoped that this is but the nucleus around which other endowments will gather in the course of time. It may come into the hearts of other friends of sanctified learning, also, to employ, in this sphere of usefulness, a portion of the means with which a beneficent Providence has endowed them, and, by adding other professorships to the one already founded, to accomplish a great good in the earth, and erect for themselves monuments more enduring than brass or marble.

BIBLICAL LITERARY SOCIETY.

In addition to the old and respectable literary societies of the College, a new one has recently been organized, denominated the "Biblical Literary Society of Allegheny College," the chief object of which is the improvement of its members in biblical and religious knowledge. This is a very important auxiliary to the Biblical Department. The Trustees of the College have assigned to the new society, a spacious and excellent hall, which has been fitted up and furnished in a very handsome manner. The Society has already a very good nucleus for a library, and it is hoped that the liberality of the friends of the Biblical Department will greatly increase it.

Students prosecuting the study of the Greek language, will recite in the Greek New Testament on every Monday morning. In addition to the text books read in that language, they must be provided with the following books of reference, viz: Anthon's Classical Dictionary, Long's Classical Atlas, and Smith and Felton's History of Greece.

Compositions and Declamations are required throughout the College course. The Senior Class will declaim original compositions throughout the year.

The preceding course of instruction conforms essentially to that of the oldest and best Institutions of the country. In conducting the youthful mind over the field of Science, it is designed to bring all the faculties into exercise in the natural order of their development and to preserve that proportion among them which will produce a proper symmetry and balance of character. Where some particular faculties, in the course of instruction receive much more attention than others, it engenders an intellectual distortion, disqualifying the individuals for any but a particular calling. The object of Collegiate Instruction is not to complete either a practical or professional education; but, by discipline and cultivation, to bring out every power of the mind to its fullest and fairest proportions, and lay the foundation of a character fitted to appear with honor and usefulness in any department of society which Providence may call the individual to fill. Such an education will ordinarily lead to high intellectual attainments, and it is the best preparation for studying the learned professions, or entering the higher departments of business.

TERMS OF ADMISSION.

1. On entering the College, the Students are expected to present satisfactory testimonials of good moral character.

2. Candidates for admission into any of the advanced classes are required to furnish proper evidence of having completed all the preceding studies of the course.

3. No student will be enrolled, or admitted to the privileges of the College, until he shall have presented to the President, or some member of the Faculty, the Treasurer's receipt for his contingent fees.

DIVISION OF THE YEAR.

The College Year contains three Terms of equal length. The Fall Term commences the third Monday in August, and ends on the third Wednesday of November. The Winter Term commences on the third Monday in December, and ends on the third Wednesday in March. The Spring Term commences on the first Monday in April, and ends on the last Wednesday in June. The Commencement of the College is celebrated on the last day of the Spring Term.

EXAMINATIONS.

The last three days of the Fall and Winter Sessions, respectively, will be devoted to an examination of the College Classes, in their studies for the Term. The last week of the Spring Term will be spent in an examination of the Students on the studies of the whole year

REMARKS.

As the Preparatory Course embraces Four Terms, those who wish to pursue all the studies in this department, should enter in the spring. The period assigned for this course will commence with the Spring Term of one year, and close with the Spring Term of the following year; so that Students may be prepared to pass regularly from this department into the Freshman Class, at the opening of the Fall Term.

A NOTE TO PARENTS AND GUARDIANS.

Boys, fourteen years old, or younger, will be subject to the following regulations:—First, they will not be permitted to disburse their own funds, but will be required to have a Purser, who, if not designated by the Parent or Guardian of the Student, may be selected by the Faculty, or by the President of the Board of Trustees. Secondly, their place of boarding will be designated by the Faculty. Thirdly, they will enter the department of the Institution judged by the Faculty best adapted to their ages, attainments and habits. Long experience has induced a conviction of the importance of each of these particulars. Without a strict adherence to them, there is but little prospect of this class of Students deriving much advantage from a connection with the College.

LIBRARY.

The College Library contains upwards of 8,000 volumes, well selected, among which are many rare and valuable works. Few institutions in this country possess one of equal extent and value. The importance of such a library to the reading Student, during his College course, is too obvious to need remark.

LITERARY SOCIETIES.

There are two Literary Societies in connection with the College. Each has a spacious hall devoted to it, fitted up in the most tasteful manner. They embrace nearly the whole body of Students. Such societies are of great utility to young men acquiring an education. They not only improve them in the art of public speaking, but also familiarize them, in some measure, with the forms of deliberative bodies, and cultivate systematic business habits. Each Society has a Library of its own.

PLAN OF ENDOWMENT.

Allegheny College is under the special patronage of the Pittsburgh and Erie Annual Conferences of the Methodist Episcopal Church, though under the immediate supervision and control of a Board of Trustees.

Any person subscribing and paying thirty-five dollars to the Centenary Fund Society of either of the above named Conferences, secures a perpetual Scholarship in the College. The two Centenary Fund Societies are regularly incorporated; and through their Boards, elected annually by the Conferences, one having its seat in Pittsburgh, and the other in Meadville, they receive and invest the funds, collect and apply the proceeds. For the funds invested, security is taken on productive real estate to three times the amount loaned. The interest, when collected, is paid over to the College Treasurer, to defray the expenses of instruction. Thus, by a large, permanent and productive endowment, the salaries of the Professors may be paid, and tuition offered without charge.

EXPENSES.

Each Student is taxed $2.00 per Term, to defray the current expenses of the College. These expenses are of various kinds, such as for fuel, services of Janitor, printing, and the ordinary repairs of the College Buildings. The contingent fee must invariably be paid in advance.

BOARDING.

Board can be had in families at a price varying from $1.75 to $2.00 per week, including room, lodging, fuel and lights.

Those who associate and furnish their provisions, can procure their cooking done in families for about 25 cents per week. On this plan the whole expense is about 75 cents per week.

Damages done to the Public Buildings, by breaking lights, &c., when the person doing the injury cannot be ascertained, will be charged the body of Students, and the amount raised by assessment. Expenses of books, society fees, and pocket money, will vary according to the habits and circumstances of the Student. It is believed by the Faculty that much pocket money is not only unnecessary, but in some cases, a serious injury to the Student at the College.

GENERAL REMARKS.

The Discipline of the College is mild, but strict. The Faculty endeavor to adopt such a course in the discharge of their official duties, in the College, that, while respect for order is preserved, every Student may feel that his teacher is his friend. Strongly convinced that the principles of morality and religion are essential to the happiness and prosperity of individuals and society—that no truly great or useful character can exist without them, they are frequently and earnestly inculcated. While entire freedom of religious sentiment and practice is allowed, the Students are required to attend regularly at some place of religious worship on the Sabbath, and on all occasions to treat the institutions of religion with respect.

Students who are religious are affectionately guarded, and their religious interests promoted by such means as are thought conducive to this end.—Believing that the value of education very much depends upon the mental habits it forms, the Faculty endeavor to encourage and enforce, as far as they are able, the diligent and systematic employment of time.

Any books used in the course may be procured in the village at a reasonable price.

Meadville, the seat of the College, is a beautiful country town, containing three thousand inhabitants. It is pleasantly located in the valley of French Creek, and for health, industry, intelligence, and good morals of the community, will compare favorably with any other borough of similar size in the country. It is only thirty-seven miles from Erie, and is directly on the stage route to Pittsburgh, and also on the route from Erie to Bellefonte. When the river is navigable, steam boats come up the Allegheny to Franklin, only twenty-four miles distant, and the canal furnishes a cheap and easy conveyance from Beaver and Erie. It is about ninety miles from Pittsburgh.

REMARKS.

The above is arranged to correspond with the regular college course. It comprises a number of studies embraced in other departments of the College, and, for its full accomplishment, demands a knowledge of the Preparatory studies, and of Algebra and Geometry. Students accomplishing this course will be entitled to a diploma signed by the officers of the Institution.

KRAMER PROFESSORSHIP.

There is, as yet, but one professorship endowed in this department—that of "Hebrew and Biblical Literature." Indeed, this is not altogether perfected, but is so far advanced as to justify the expectation that it will soon be completed. The munificent sum of five thousand dollars was subscribed by Allen Kramer, Esq., of Pittsburgh, after whom the professorship has been appropriately named. Many other gentlemen, in the same city, and elsewhere, have also contributed liberally towards the endowment of this chair, thereby evincing a warm interest in behalf of Biblical literature. It is to be hoped that this is but the nucleus around which other endowments will gather in the course of time. It may come into the hearts of other friends of sanctified learning, also, to employ, in this sphere of usefulness, a portion of the means with which a beneficent Providence has endowed them, and, by adding other professorships to the one already founded, to accomplish a great good in the earth, and erect for themselves monuments more enduring than brass or marble.

BIBLICAL LITERARY SOCIETY.

In addition to the old and respectable literary societies of the College, a new one has recently been organized, denominated the "Biblical Literary Society of Allegheny College," the chief object of which is the improvement of its members in biblical and religious knowledge. This is a very important auxiliary to the Biblical Department. The Trustees of the College have assigned to the new society, a spacious and excellent hall, which has been fitted up and furnished in a very handsome manner. The Society has already a very good nucleus for a library, and it is hoped that the liberality of the friends of the Biblical Department will greatly increase it.

ERRATA.—The name of ORRIN A. COLE, Crawford County, should appear in the Preparatory Department.

Students prosecuting the study of the Greek language, will recite in the Greek New Testament on every Monday morning. In addition to the text books read in that language, they must be provided with the following books of reference, viz: Anthon's Classical Dictionary, Long's Classical Atlas, and Smith and Felton's History of Greece.

Compositions and Declamations are required throughout the College course. The Senior Class will declaim original compositions throughout the year.

The preceding course of instruction conforms essentially to that of the oldest and best Institutions of the country. In conducting the youthful mind over the field of Science, it is designed to bring all the faculties into exercise in the natural order of their development, and to preserve that proportion among them which will produce a proper symmetry and balance of character. Where some particular faculties, in the course of instruction receive much more attention than others, it engenders an intellectual distortion, disqualifying the individual for any but a practical calling. The object of Collegiate Instruction is not to complete either a practical or professional education; but, by discipline and cultivation, to bring out every power of the mind to its fullest and fairest proportions, and lay the foundation of a character fitted to appear with honor and usefulness in any department of society which Providence may call the individual to fill. Such an education will ordinarily lead to high intellectual attainments, and it is the best preparation for studying the learned professions, or entering the higher departments of business.

TERMS OF ADMISSION.

1. On entering the College, the students are expected to present satisfactory testimonials of good moral character.

2. Candidates for admission into any of the advanced classes are required to furnish proper evidence of having completed all the preceding studies of the course.

3. No student will be enrolled, or admitted to the privileges of the College, until he shall have presented to the President, or some member of the Faculty, the Treasurer's receipt for his contingent fees.

DIVISION OF THE YEAR.

The College year contains three Terms of equal length. The Fall Term commences on the second Monday in August, and ends on the first Wednesday in November. The Winter Term commences on the first Monday in December, and ends on the first Wednesday in March. The Spring Term commences on the last Monday in March, and ends on the last Wednesday in June. The Commencement of the College is celebrated on the last day of the Spring Term.

EXAMINATIONS.

The last three days of the Fall and Winter Sessions, respectively, will be devoted to an examination of the College Classes, in their studies for the Term. The week preceding Commencement is occupied in like manner.

REMARKS.

As the Preparatory Course embraces four Terms, those who wish to pursue all the studies in this department should enter in the Spring. The period assigned for this course will commence with the Spring Term of one year, and close with the Spring Term of the following year; so that Students may be prepared to pass regularly from this department to the Freshman Class, at the opening of the Fall Term.

A NOTE TO PARENTS AND GUARDIANS.

Boys, fourteen years old, or younger, will be subject to the following regulations:—First, they will not be permitted to disburse their own funds, but will be required to have a Purser, who, if not designated by the Parent or Guardian of the Student, may be selected by the Faculty, or by the President of the Board of Trustees. Secondly, their place of boarding will be designated by the Faculty. Thirdly, they will enter the department of the Institution judged by the Faculty best adapted to their age, attainments and habits. Long experience has induced a conviction of the importance of each of these particulars. Without a strict adherence to them, there is but little prospect of this class of Students deriving much advantage from a connection with the College.

LIBRARY.

The College Library contains upwards of 8,000 volumes, well selected, among which are many rare and valuable works. Few institutions in this country possess one of equal extent and value. The importance of such a library to the reading Student, during his College course, is too obvious to need remark.

LITERARY SOCIETIES.

There are three Literary Societies in connection with the College, one of which is connected with the Biblical Department. Each has a spacious hall devoted to it, fitted up in the most tasteful manner. They embrace nearly the whole body of Students. Such societies are of great utility to young men acquiring an education. They not only improve them in the art of public speaking, but also familiarize them, in some measure, with the forms of deliberative bodies, and cultivate systematic business habits. Each society has a Library of its own.

PLAN OF ENDOWMENT.

Allegheny College is under the special patronage of the Pittsburgh and Erie Annual Conferences of the Methodist Episcopal Church, though under the immediate supervision and control of a Board of Trustees.

Any persons subscribing and paying thirty-five dollars to the Centenary Fund Society of either of the above named Conferences, secures a perpetual Scholarship in the College. The two Centenary Fund Societies are regularly incorporated; and through their Boards, elected annually by the Conferences, one having its seat in Pittsburgh, and the other in Meadville, they receive and invest the funds, collect and apply the proceeds. For the funds invested, security is taken on productive real estate to three times the amount loaned. The interest, when collected, is paid over to the College Treasurer, to defray the expenses of instruction. Thus, by a large, permanent and productive endowment, the salaries of the Professors may be paid and tuition offered without charge.

EXPENSES.

Each Student is taxed $2 00 per Term, to defray the current expenses of the College. These expenses are of various kinds, such as for fuel, services of Janitor, printing and the ordinary repairs of the College Buildings. The contingent fee must invariably be paid in advance.

BOARDING.

Board can be had in families at a price varying from $1.75 to $2.25 per week, including room, lodging, fuel and lights.

Those who associate and furnish their provisions, can procure their cooking done in families for about 25 cents per week. On this plan the whole expense need not exceed $1.00 per week.

Damages done to the Public Buildings, by breaking lights, &c., when the persons doing the injury cannot be ascertained, will be charged to the body of Students, and the amount raised by assessment. Expenses of books, society fees, and pocket money, will vary according to the habits and circumstances of the Student. It is believed by the Faculty that much pocket money is not only unnecessary, but in some cases, a serious injury to the Student at the College.

GENERAL REMARKS.

The Discipline of the College is mild, but strict. The Faculty endeavor to adopt such a course in the discharge of their official duties, in the College, that, while respect for order is preserved, every Student may feel that his teacher is his friend. Strongly convinced that the principles of morality and religion are essential to the happiness and prosperity of individuals and society—that no truly great or useful character can exist without them, they are frequently and earnestly inculcated. While entire freedom of religious sentiment and practice is allowed, the Students are required to attend regularly at some place of religious worship on the Sabbath, and on all occasions to treat the institutions of religion with respect.

Students who are religious are affectionately guarded, and their religious interests promoted by such means as are thought conducive to this end.—Believing that the value of education very much depends upon the mental habits it forms, the Faculty endeavor to encourage and enforce, as far as they are able, the diligent and systematic employment of time.

Any books used in the course may be procured in the village at a reasonable price.

Meadville, the seat of the College, is a beautiful country town, containing six thousand inhabitants. It is pleasantly located in the valley of French Creek, and for health, industry, intelligence, and good morals of the community, will compare favorably with any other borough of similar size in the country. It is only thirty-seven miles from Erie, and is directly on the stage route to Pittsburgh, and also on the route from Erie to Bellefonte. When the river is navigable, steamboats come up the Allegheny to Franklin, only twenty-four miles distant. It is about ninety miles from Pittsburgh. The Sunbury and Erie R. R. is now completed from Erie to Warren, Pa. Persons from the East can take this road from Erie to Waterford, twenty-two miles distant, and from the latter place there is good stage communication to Meadville. Those coming from the West can take the Erie and Pittsburgh R. R. from Girard, on the L. S. Road, to Linesville, only 14 miles distant and thence come by stage. This is a very pleasant route. The Atlantic and Great Western Rail Road, now in the process of construction is to pass directly through the place.

REMARKS.

The above is arranged to correspond with the regular College course. It comprises a number of studies embraced in other departments of the College, and, for its full accomplishment, demands a knowledge of the Preparatory studies, and of Algebra and Geometry. Students accomplishing this course will be entitled to a diploma signed by the officers of the Institution.

KRAMER PROFESSORSHIP.

There is, as yet, but one professorship endowed in this department—that of "Hebrew and Biblical Literature." Indeed, this is not altogether perfected, but is so far advanced as to justify the expectation that it will soon be completed. For this we are indebted chiefly to the munificence of Allen Kramer, Esq., of Pittsburgh, after whom the professorship has been appropriately named. Other gentlemen, in the same city, and elsewhere, have also contributed liberally towards the endowment of this chair, thereby evincing a warm interest in behalf of Biblical Literature. It is to be hoped that this is but the nucleus around which other endowments will gather in the course of time. It may come into the hearts of other friends of sanctified learning, also, to employ, in this sphere of usefulness, a portion of the means with which a beneficent Providence has endowed them, and, by adding other professorships to the one already founded, to accomplish a great good in the earth, and erect for themselves monuments more enduring than brass or marble.

BIBLICAL LITERARY SOCIETY.

This Society has been in existence for several years, and may now be regarded as well established. Its object is the improvement of its members in Biblical and religious knowledge, as well as the arts of speaking, writing, and the forms of business in deliberative bodies. The Society has already the beginning of a good library. It is hoped that the liberality of the friends of the Biblical Department will soon fill it up.

Students prosecuting the study of the Greek Language, will recite in the Greek New Testament every Monday morning. In addition to the text books read in that language, they must be provided with the following books of reference, viz: Anthon's Classical Dictionary, Long's Classical Atlas, and Smith and Felton's History of Greece.

Compositions and Declamations are required throughout the College course. The Senior Class will declaim original compositions throughout the year.

The preceding course of instruction conforms essentially to that of the oldest and best Institutions of the country. In conducting the youthful mind over the field of Science, it is designed to bring all the faculties into exercise in the natural order of their development, and to preserve that proportion among them which will produce a proper symmetry and balance of character. Where some particular faculties, in the course of instruction receive much more attention than others, it engenders an intellectual distortion, disqualifying the individual for any but a particular calling. The object of Collegiate Instruction is not to complete either a practical or professional education; but, by discipline and cultivation, to bring out every power of the mind to its fullest and fairest proportions, and lay the foundation of a character fitted to appear with honor and usefulness in any department of society which Providence may call the individual to fill. Such an education will ordinarily lead to high intellectual attainments, and it is the best preparation for studying the learned professions, or entering the higher departments of business.

TERMS OF ADMISSION.

1.—On entering the College, the students are expected to present satisfactory testimonials of good moral character.

2.—Candidates for admission into any of the advanced classes are required to furnish proper evidence of having completed all the preceding studies of the course.

3.—No student will be enrolled, or admitted to the privileges of the College, until he shall have presented to the President, or some member of the Faculty, the Treasurer's receipt for his contingent fees, and entered his name in the College Register.

REMARKS.

As the Preparatory Course embraces four Terms, those who wish to pursue all the studies in this department should enter in the Spring. The period assigned for this course will commence with the Spring Term of one year, and close with the Spring Term of the following year; so that Students may be prepared to pass regularly from this department to the Freshman Class, at the opening of the Fall Term.

DIVISION OF THE YEAR.

The College year contains three Terms of equal length.

The Fall Term commences on the second Monday in August, and ends on the first Wednesday in November.

The Winter Term commences on the first Monday in December, and ends on the first Wednesday in March.

The Spring Term commences on the last Monday in March, and ends on the last Wednesday in June.

Commencement is on the last day of the Spring Term.

EXAMINATIONS.

The Fall examination will be on the last three days of the Fall Term. The Winter examination will be on the last three days of the Winter Term. The Spring examination will commence a week previous to Commencement.

DEGREES.

The degree of Bachelor of Arts will be conferred upon those who complete in a satisfactory manner the entire course of study.

The degree of Master of Arts may be conferred in course on every Bachelor of Arts of three years standing, or more, who has been engaged since his graduation in some literary occupation, and has sustained a good moral character. Application must be made to the President previous to Commencement.

COLLEGE HONORS---1861.

1st Honor,	Valedictory,	Adam C. Nutt.
2nd "	Greek Salutatory,	Samuel M. Davis,
3rd "	Latin Salutatory,	Sion B. Smith.

EXPENSES.

Each Student is taxed $2.00 per Term to defray the current expenses of the College. These expenses are of various kinds, such as for fuel, services of Janitor, printing, and the ordinary repairs of the College Buildings. The contingent fee must invariably be paid in advance.

Damages done to the Public Buildings, by breaking lights, &c., when the persons doing the injury cannot be ascertained, will be charged to the body of Students, and the amount raised by assessment. Expenses of books, society fees, and pocket money, will vary according to the habits and circumstances of the Student. It is believed by the Faculty that much pocket money is not only unnecessary, but in some cases, a serious injury to the Student at College.

Board can be had in families at a price varying from $1.75 to $2.25 per week, including room, lodging, fuel and lights.

Those who associate and furnish their provisions, can procure their cooking done in families for about 25 cents per week. On this plan the whole expense need not exceed $1.00 per week.

A NOTE TO PARENTS AND GUARDIANS.

Boys, fourteen years old, or younger, will be subject to the following regulations:—First, they will not be permitted to disburse their own funds, but will be required to have a Purser, who, if not designated by the Parent or Guardian of the Student, may be selected by the Faculty, or by the President of the Board of Trustees. Secondly, their place of boarding will be designated by the Faculty. Thirdly, they will enter the department of the Institution judged by the Faculty to be best adapted to their age, attainments and habits. Long experience has induced a conviction of the importance of each of these particulars. Without a strict adherence to them, there is but little prospect of this class of Students deriving much advantage from a connection with the College.

PLAN OF ENDOWMENT.

Allegheny College is under the special patronage of the Pittsburgh and Erie Annual Conferences of the Methodist Episcopal Church, though under the immediate supervision and control of a Board of Trustees.

Any person subscribing and paying thirty-five dollars to the Centenary Fund Society of either of the above named Conferences, secures a perpetual Scholarship in the College. The two Centenary Fund Societies are regularly incorporated; and through their Boards, elected annually by the Conferences, one having its seat in Pittsburgh, and the other in Meadville, they receive and invest the funds, collect and apply the proceeds. For the funds invested, security is taken on productive real estate to three times the amount loaned. The interest, when collected, is paid over to the College Treasurer, to defray the expenses of instruction. Thus, by a large, permanent and productive endowment, the salaries of the Professors may be paid and tuition offered without charge.

LIBRARY.

The College Library contains upwards of 8,000 volumes, well selected, among which are many rare and valuable works. Few institutions in this country possess one of equal extent and value. The importance of such a library to the reading Student, during his College course, is too obvious to need remark. Each of the three Literary Societies also has a Library of its own.

LITERARY SOCIETIES.

There are three Literary Societies in connection with the College, one of which is connected with the Biblical Department. Each has a spacious hall devoted to it, fitted up in the most tasteful manner. They embrace nearly the whole body of Students. Such Societies are of great utility to young men acquiring an education. They not only improve them in the art of public speaking, but also familiarize them, in some measure, with the forms of deliberative bodies, and cultivate systematic business habits. They each have issued a catalogue, and award prizes.

ALLEGHENY LITERARY SOCIETY.

The Jones Prize, competed for by the members in the Freshman Class or Preparatory Department, has been awarded as follows—

1858	Luther Harmon,	Westfield, N. Y.
1859	Theodore Hall,	Ashtabula, O.
1860	James R. Mills,	Pittsburgh, Pa.
1861	Jonas R. Butterfield,	Sharpsburgh, Pa.

The Hazeltine Prize, competed for by all the members of the Society connected with the College, has been awarded as follows—

1854	F. W. Shippen,	Meadville.
1855	Joseph W. Pickett,	Ashtabula Co., O.
1856	Nelson Greene,	Waterford, C. W.
1857	B. Innis Sterrett,	Erie Co., Pa.
1858	S. G. Nye,	Westfield, N. Y.
1859	Sidney G. Brock,	Cleveland, O.
1860	J. Wilson Phillips,	Watertown, Tenn.
1861	Teunis H. Vosburgh,	Buffalo, N. Y.

PHILO-FRANKLIN LITERARY SOCIETY.

The Kalamathean Prize Medal, competed for by Members in the Freshman Class or Preparatory Department, has been awarded as follows—

1858	R. S. McEntyre,	Meadville.
1859	George Norris,	Windsor, O.
1860	M. Cornelius Horton,	Nelson, O.
1861	George G. Miller,	Greensboro, Pa.

The Woodruff Prize Medal, competed for by all the members of the Society, has been awarded as follows—

1857	James H. Messmore,	India.
1858	Ambrose M. Robbins,	Niles, O.
1859	Adam C. Nutt,	Brownsville, Pa.
1860	J. Fletcher Daton,	New Alexandria, O.
1861	Edwin B. Cummings,	Poland, O.

BIBLICAL LITERARY SOCIETY.

The Hunter Prize, competed for by the members of the Biblical Literary Society, has been awarded as follows—

1859	James H. Messmore,	India.
1860	Henry Wilson,	Uniontown, Pa.
1861	Ephraim A. Ludwick,	Pittsburgh, Pa.

GENERAL REMARKS.

The Discipline of the College is mild, but strict. The Faculty endeavor to adopt such a course in the discharge of their official duties, in the College, that, while respect for order is preserved, every Student may feel that his Teacher is his friend. Strongly convinced that the principles of morality and religion are essential to the happiness and prosperity of individuals and society—that no truly great or useful character can exist without them, they are frequently and earnestly inculcated. While entire freedom of religious sentiment and practice is allowed, the Students are required to attend regularly at some place of religious worship on the Sabbath, and on all occasions to treat the institutions of religion with respect.

Believing that the value of education very much depends upon the mental habits it forms, the Faculty endeavor to encourage and enforce, as far as they are able, the diligent and systematic employment of time.

Meadville, the seat of the College, is a beautiful country town, containing five thousand inhabitants. It is pleasantly located in the valley of French Creek, and for health, industry, intelligence, and good morals of the community, will compare favorably with any other borough of similar size in the country. It is only thirty-seven miles from Erie, and is directly on the stage route to Pittsburgh, and also on the route from Erie to Bellefonte. When the river is navigable, steamboats come up the Allegheny to Franklin, only twenty-four miles distant. It is about ninety miles from Pittsburgh. The Sunbury and Erie R. R. is now completed from Erie to Warren, Pa. Persons from the East can take this road from Erie to Waterford, twenty-two miles distant, and from the latter place there is good stage communication to Meadville. Those coming from the West can take the Erie and Pittsburgh R. R. from Girard, on the Lake Shore Road, to Linesville, only fourteen miles distant and thence come by stage. This is a very pleasant route. The Atlantic and Great Western Railroad, now in process of construction, is to pass directly through the place.

REMARKS.

The above is arranged to correspond with the regular College course. It comprises a number of studies embraced in other departments of the College, and, for its full accomplishment, demands a knowledge of the Preparatory studies, and of Algebra and Geometry. Students accomplishing this course will be entitled to a diploma signed by the officers of the Institution.

KRAMER PROFESSORSHIP.

There is, as yet, but one professorship endowed in this department—that of "Hebrew and Biblical Literature." Indeed, this is not altogether perfected, but is so far advanced as to justify the expectation that it will soon be completed. For this we are indebted chiefly to the munificence of Allen Kramer, Esq., of Pittsburgh, after whom the professorship has been appropriately named. Other gentlemen, in the same city, and elsewhere, have also contributed liberally towards the endowment of this chair, thereby evincing a warm interest in behalf of Biblical Literature. It is to be hoped that this is but the nucleus around which other endowments will gather in the course of time. It may come into the hearts of other friends of sanctified learning, also, to employ, in this sphere of usefulness, a portion of the means which a beneficent Providence has endowed them, and, by adding other professorships to the one already founded, to accomplish a great good in the earth, and erect for themselves monuments more enduring than brass or marble.

BIBLICAL LITERARY SOCIETY.

This Society has been in existence for several years, and may now be regarded as well established. Its object is the improvement of its members in Biblical and religious knowledge, as well as the arts of speaking, writing, and the forms of business in deliberative bodies. The Society has already the beginning of a good library. It is hoped that the liberality of the friends of the Biblical Department will soon fill it up.
